

Community remembers Thiebad

BY STEVEN GOODSTEIN

A Bronx business owner, entrepreneur and close community friend known primarily for his coconut-flavored ices passed away after a tragic accident, leaving friends and family members stunned and sorrow-filled.

Alfredo Thiebaud, founder and president of Delicioso Coco Helado, died on Friday, September 19 at the age of 74 after being crushed by an electric overhead security gate.

Friday was just another workday for Thiebaud, who had just finished sweeping outside his factory at 849 St. Anns Avenue and activated an electric overhead gate to close.

After activating the gate, Alfredo somehow ended up on the ground while the gate continued to descend, crushing his chest and neck. He was pronounced dead at the scene when police found his

PROTEST AGAINST FACILITY

Van Nest rejects transitional housing plan

BY JAIME WILLIAMS

A company that provides transitional housing for the homeless has introduced a proposal for a facility in Van Nest, and residents are pushing back.

Metro Safe Housing, a for-profit company that was formed in early 2014, recently presented plans to turn a four-family house on Taylor Avenue into an Emergency Placement Unit for individuals referred by NYC Human Resources Administration.

After the plans were brought by Metro Safe Housing to members of Community Board 11, the Van Nest Neighborhood Alliance organized a protest, imploring that the neighborhood "Invest in families, not facilities."

The goal of the protest was to raise awareness in the neighborhood about the plans for the facility, said VNNA vice president Bernadette Ferrara, and the group collected more than 175 signatures in protest and sent the petition to the community board and local elected officials.

Fred Aldehari, CEO of Metro Safe Housing, said he felt disrespected by the protest, which he said left fliers all over the property in question. His company, which currently has four other facilities in the Bronx, is trying to provide a good service, he said.

"Our mission is to provide quality, safe housing for those in need," said Aldehari.

Metro Safe Housing screens the individuals who are referred by HRA, said Aldehari, and they choose only people who would be a good fit for their home.

Beyond that, he said residents agree to a strict code-of-conduct, which includes curfews, and the

Sopranos actor heads Columbus Day Parade

BY JAIME WILLIAMS

A familiar face to many will be heading up Morris Park Avenue in a few weeks.

The grand marshal of the 2014 Bronx Columbus Day Parade is Vincent Pastore, the actor best known for his role on The Sopranos.

Pastore, a 3rd generation Italian-American, said he's proud to represent Italian culture and history at this year's Columbus Day Parade. He described the Italian values as food, family and friendship, pointing to a culture that comes from the roots of civilizations, the Roman Empire.

"We have such a great heritage," said Pastore, "It's an honor to be able to celebrate all that."

Pastore was born in Port Chester, and was raised in New Rochelle, he said, in an Italian-American neighborhood. He has childhood memories of visiting his grandmother on Arthur Avenue, along with the Bronx Zoo and the New York Botanical Garden.

He moved to Pelham Bay in the late 80s when he started pursuing acting, he said, after running night clubs in New Rochelle for about 25 years.

within itself," he said. "Over the bridge you're in its own world."

Pastore is still acting, most recently in Woody Allen's play, Bullets Over

He's also working with the Morris Park Community Association on a cancer-related fundraiser for Calvary Hospital. He recently beat prostate cancer.

"I believe in giving back," Pastore said about his work.

He's looking forward to the Columbus Day festivities in Morris Park, he said, and is happy to follow fellow actor Chazz Palminteri.

"It's a huge honor to be a grand marshal," said Pastore.

The parade will take place on Sunday, October 12, starting at noon at the corner of Morris Park Avenue and White Plains Road, and will follow Morris Park Avenue up to Williamsbridge Road.

A special concert will be held at Loretto Park at 5:30 p.m., featuring the Gio Venuto Band.

We have such a great heritage. It's an honor to be able to celebrate all that.

Vincent Pastore

"It was hard, I was 42 when I broke into the business," said Pastore.

The first film he worked on, "True Love," was filmed in Morris Park. After the success of The Sopranos, he bought a house on City Island, where he said he had been visiting since the 60s.

Pastore said he loved how the island had been preserved over time.

Broadway. He also writes, and is in the process of developing his own play based on his bar days in New Rochelle.

Outside of work, he is active in several charitable organizations, including Lustgarten Foundation for Pancreatic Cancer Research, the Light of Day Foundation for Parkinson's disease research, Wounded Warriors, and Self Help Africa.

Respect Life's Life Chain Oct. 5th

For the ninth year in a row, the St. Margaret of Cortona "Respect Life Committee" and the Bronx Right to Life Committee are co-sponsoring a "Life Chain" on Broadway on Sunday afternoon, October 5th, between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. The demonstration will stretch from West 254th Street to West 262nd St.

Participants in the pro-life activity will carry signs calling for an end to abortion and pointing out that "adoption is the caring option."

Mrs. Barbara Meara, committee chairwoman, stated, "It will be a peaceful and prayerful demonstration, intended to raise awareness."

Abortion hurts all concerned; the child that is lost, the mother who grieves, and other family members."

The first "Life Chain" was held 26 years ago in several cities in California. Since then the practice has spread far and wide, with "chains" in more than 250 cities across the USA and Canada. It is held on the first Sunday in October, which has been designated "Respect Life Sunday" by the Roman Catholic Church.

That the event is open to all who want to participate.

"While some participants are church members, we invite all pro-life people to join in," she said.

Posters will be available from event captains at even-numbered street corners along the Broadway route. Mrs. Meara may be reached at 718-543-5091 for more information.

CB 10 votes "No" on Ferry Point shelter

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

After a meeting with city homeless officials and a service provider, that was at times contentious and constructive, a Community Board 10 committee voted to oppose the Capri Whitestone Motel homeless shelter.

The motel, located on the Hutchinson River Parkway service road in Ferry Point, was leased to service provider Acacia after the Department of Homeless Services determined need.

Up to 95 families will be housed at that location, according to DHS officials and Acacia representatives at a Monday, September 22 meeting.

After about two hours of discussion with DHS and Acacia, Community Board 10's Municipal Service Committee voted unanimously to oppose the siting of a shelter in the Ferry Point community for a variety of reasons.

"Community Board 10 is opposed to the installation of a homeless shelter at the location of the Capri Whitestone Motel, due to a lack of nearby services for the proposed tenants, the failure of the Department of Homeless Services (DHS) to follow due process and perform due diligence, and the adverse impact that it will have on the socio-economic well-being of the Ferry Point community," stated the resolution that was approved. "The committee further opposes this siting, because it will have a decided negative affect upon an area slated for future development, depriving the board's service area of the benefits associated with its promised economic rejuvenation of the surrounding community..."

The resolution will be voted on by the full board at its next general meeting, scheduled for Thursday, October 16 at 7:30 p.m. at Riverbay Corporation, 177 Dreiser Loop, Auditorium A in Co-op City.

According to DHS representatives at the meeting, 54 families were housed at the shuttered motel as of September 22. DHS committed to establishing a Community Advisory Board for the shelter, which opened last week in the midst of what the agency termed an "homelessness emergency."

CB 10 board member Robert Bieder said that although the Bronx is just one of five boroughs, it has about 35% of the city's homeless population. He was cheered by many in the room when this point was made. He said that the entire city has a legal and moral obligation to house the homeless, but the borough has more than its fair share of shelters, which should only be 20 percent. "We are not getting our fair share; we are getting abused," said Bieder about shelter sitings in the Bronx. "It has gotten to the point where you say, 'you know what, we can get away with it, let's put it in the Bronx.'"

Representatives of the Trump Organization were also present at the meeting. Donald Trump's real estate firm is completing work on a new golf course close to the Capri Whitestone in Ferry Point Park. That golf course was paid for by taxpayer funds.

CB 10 chairman Martin Prince said, among other comments presented during the meeting during a robust Q&A period, that the eventual number of DHS' homeless families slated for this facility will outnumber the current residential population of the Ferry Point community.

JoAnne Somers, president of the Ferry Point Civic Association, Inc., stated at the meeting that the area was going to be inundated with traffic because of school buses and a shuttle service going and coming from the motel.

Dotti Poggi, leader of the Ferry Point Community Advocates, said that the DHS' bullied her community into accepting it, and expressed concern about the "image" of the area.

Community Board 10 member Robert Bieder (c) speaks to the capacity crowd about the Bronx having more homeless shelters than other boroughs at the Monday, September 22 Municipal Services Committee meeting.

Bullying American Indians

Dear editor,

Bullying is not only done by children but also by adults. People have been called Mick's, Kike's, Kraut's, and Wop's by bullies for years, but when told how hurtful and offensive it is, good people stop.

The American Indians have told all in football to stop calling them names because they and there children are hurt by it, but these heartless bastards refuse to do so. Therefore I for one will not only boycott that team but also anybody that supports them. Bullying is not funny,

Serica Dental

Dear editor,

I wish to tell you of my experience at Serica Dental in Throggs Neck. I needed emergency dental care. I had an important family gathering to attend. I was not a patient at Senica Dental, but the professional care extended to me was excellent.

Thank you Senica Dental.

Response to Siegel

Dear editor,

The September 5 edition of the Bronx Times Reporter had a letter written by Andrea Siegel regarding the Public Library located at 2147 Barnes Avenue. Ms. Siegel used the phrases "three year struggle," "perseverance and gracious acts," "hard work," "dedication," and "this battle has been one" to make her point. Strong words.

Was the library in danger of closing? No. Was it being moved to another area? No. Was it getting rebuilt after a fire or other catastrophe? No, the life changing event that she was talking about was the name of the library being officially called "The Pelham Parkway Van Nest Library." A name change! Well, on behalf of all the people who use this library, I would like to say to Ms. Siegel, "Are you going to start a petition to award the Nobel Peace Prize and the Congressional Medal of Honor to all elected officials for their bravery, dedication, hard work and perseverance in getting this three year struggle and battle won?"

Just asking.

Fred Deschler

Chelsea for Congress

Dear editor,

Don't shed any tears for Chelsea Clinton leaving her $600,000 per year job as an NBC News special correspondent. The apple doesn't fall far from the tree. Like her parents, Chelsea professes to be friends of the 99%. Yet all three have incomes, live the life style and spend most of their time hanging out with the 1%. Who can afford to purchase a $10 million apartment as Chelsea and her husband did earlier this year. Chelsea did not got her job at NBC News based on her journalistic experience.

It is the same for serving on the board of IAC/Interactive (a digital media company) and being compensated at $50,000 per year plus $250,000 in stock. She also serves on the boards of companies owned by Michael Eisner and Edger Brofman, Jr. (both major Clinton campaign contributors) for additional significant financial compensation.

None of the above was based on the merits of her past accomplishments. Her success to date trades on both her parents name and those who want to ingratiate themselves with Bill and Hillary. Chelsea's failure to obtain any exclusive interviews over the past three years with either parent or high powered friends of Hillary and Bill may have had something to do with her leaving NBC News.

Watch in coming years as the same crowd helps Chelsea purchase a Congressional seat from New York, like they did for Hillary in 2000.

First settlers in 1639

Dear editor,

It's wonderful to commemorate Jonas Bronck during the 100th anniversary of "The Bronx." The only thing missing is that Teuntje Joriaens Bronck and Jonas came here together as wife and husband; both established their home and land as the first settlers in 1639?

I'm sure everyone agrees that history must be reported accurately. Yet in the past, women were frequently left out of the stories. Although now we know better, still more often than not only the husband is noted, as we've seen most recently re our Bronx history.

How many of you reading this even know Jonas didn't arrive here alone - that he actually had a wife and helpmate?

Another example you'll recognize is how most historic homes - in which both a wife and husband lived and worked and brought up families - are only known by the husband's name.

Let us hear from you

Letters to the editor are welcome from all readers. They should be addressed care of this newspaper to Laura Guerriero, Publisher, the Bronx Times Reporter, 900 E. 132nd Street, Bronx, NY 10454, or e-mail to bronxtimes@cnglocal.com. All letters, including those submitted via e-mail, MUST be signed and with a verifiable address and telephone number included. Note that the address and telephone number will NOT be published and the name will be published or withheld upon request. No unsigned letters can be accepted for publication. The editor reserves the right to edit all submissions.

And so it is, sadly, with much of our Bronx history and American history.

The time is long overdue to do what Abigail Adams told her husband: "Remember the ladies."

Free Yom Kippur seats available

Dear editor,

Yom Kippur, the "Day of Atonement" is the holiest day of the Jewish year, and Jews all over the world will observe Yom Kippur next week, October 3 and 4. Yom Kippur includes a community-wide fast in which all Jews are supposed to participate. If you don't have your Yom Kippur synagogue tickets, it's still NOT too late to make your free reservations with Temple Hatikva at Bronx House, 990 Pelham Parkway South.

Temple Hatkva is offering full Yom Kippur services. Kol Nidre will be chanted on the first evening, Friday, October 3 at 7:30 P.M. Services will continue on Saturday morning October 4 at 10 A.M. Yizkor, the memorial prayer for the deceased. will be said at 12 Noon, and the Concluding service will be held at 6 P.M. A light Kiddush will be held after the concluding Yom Kippur service.

Tickets for the Yom Kippur services are FREE, but space is limited, so they are now being provided on a first-come, first-served basis. To reserve your seats, you must immediately call Temple Hatikva at (917) 453-7557 or send e-mail to TempleHatikva@aol.com.

We look forward to the Jewish community joining us in prayer on this most sacred holiday. We promise you that our services will be meaningful for each and every person, regardless of your level of Jewish education. Rabbi Harry and Cantor Kyle make sure that everyone understands our services and achieves a wonderful level of spirituality.

Prayerbooks will be provided by Temple Hatikva for all those attending the services.

Scott Davis, Temple Hatikva president

St. Ray's bids farewell to longtime athletic director

BY ROBERT WIRSING

Ronald Patnosh, former athletic director and founder of St. Raymond High School For Boys baseball program, died Friday, September 19. He was 76.

Patnosh, a Queens native, started his St. Raymond's career in 1962, two years after the school first opened its doors. For 45 years, he coached both the JV baseball and varsity baseball teams and lead them to win 1,080 games during his legendary career. Patnosh was instrumental in the Ravens achieving two city championship victories in 1980 and 1989. According to Frank Eisele, president of the Throgs Neck Little League board of directors, Patnosh frequently recruited many of the league's members for his team and ultimately emerged victorious in their first city championship win. "He mentored a lot of kids," said Eisele. "Ron was respected by everyone."

He continued as head coach until retiring in spring 2010 after his team won the city championship's semi finals. Patnosh was the proud recipient of the Sportsmanship Award by the Catholic High School Athletic Association and was inducted into the St. Raymond's Hall of Fame by principal, Brother Daniel Gardner and athletic director, Benjamin Aguirre in May.

Aguirre shared memories of the late Patnosh who he knew since he was 12. "He was part of its foundation," said Aguirre. "He was always enthusiastic about St. Raymond's, passionate about the boys, and feisty. He was always real with you and never minced words."

In addition to athletics, Patnosh's credentials included serving as an assistant principal for 15 years, a teacher of Global History, the chairman of the History Department, and moderator of the History Club. "He dedicated his whole life to the boys here at St. Raymond's," said Aguirre.

St. Raymond's coach Marc DeLuca remembers his friend as being "a very prominent coach in the area" and well known for his competitiveness on game day.

"He would do anything for anyone especially for his players and his students. He was like a second dad to them," said DeLuca. "He was never married and didn't have a family of his own, but he had a St. Raymond's family."

After retirement, Patnosh continued supporting the school's student athletes and academic community. Even nearing his final days, he retained his charismatic personality. Despite health concerns, "he was in good spirits," recalled Aguirre who saw and spoke with his predecessor at last Friday's varsity game.

As he did in life, Patnosh's death has had a tremendous impact upon the entire St. Raymond's community. "He was our heart and soul," said Aguirre. "When they think about St. Raymond's, they think of Ron Patnosh."

One local St. Raymond's alum, Robert Gaspari, the owner of Loretta's Pizzeria was saddened by Patnosh's death. "He was a lot of help to the school and to the students," said Gaspari. "He was a great guy and served almost as a mentor to us. He was really someone you could look up to."

A Class of 1978 alum, Gaspari played for four years as the Raven's first baseman and pitcher during the Patnosh era. "He knew everything about the game and he was one a really tough cookie," said Gaspari. "He really put his heart and soul into the game every time."

Patnosh was survived by his sister, Mary Ellen Storniola and his nieces, Stephanie and Kim. In lieu of flowers, his family requested donations be made instead to the Ronald Patnosh Foundation, dedi-

Ronald Patnosh at his number retirement ceremony in May.

A memorial service was held in St. Raymond High School For Boys Gymnasium on Monday, September 22 and a funeral Mass was conducted the following morning. Over 1,000 people were in attendance to bid him a final farewell.

"He was the one who built everything and was responsible for the school's success," said DeLuca. "You know you're important when they move the venue from a church to a gym."

Accident claims cop's life on Bruckner Exp.

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

A tragic van accident claimed the life of a young officer from the 47th Precinct in the northern part of our borough.

Mayor de Blasio and New York Police Department Commissioner William Bratton visited the 47th Precinct on Sunday, September 21, after an automobile accident, shortly around 5:08 a.m., took the life of police officer Michael Williams, 25, on the Bruckner Expressway. Eight other officers, also assigned to the precinct, sustained non-life threatening injuries.

The accident is currently under investigation by the NYPD Highway Unit's Collision Investigation Squad.

The group of nine officers were travelling in a police van heading to Manhattan to police a climate-change demonstration on Sunday and the start of a United Nations General Assembly when the vehicle struck a jersey barrier on

Police Officer Michael Williams

the expressway near Bryant Avenue.

Officer Williams was ejected from the vehicle through a right rear passenger seat window, and was pronounced dead at Lincoln Hospital. No other cars were involved.

De Blasio and Bratton took questions from the media outside the 47th Precinct after meeting with officers inside.

"Very early in this new day we lost one of our finest, and we lost one of the newest members of our finest, and that hurts even more," said the mayor of the young officer. "Officer Williams' dream was to be an NYPD officer. He came from a police family. This is what he wanted to do with his life."

The mayor added, speaking of Williams' assignment to the four-seven, (a precinct which several months ago saw a spike in violence): "He was assigned here to a tough precinct where a lot of work was needed, and he was part of the team that was turning things around, and I know that was a source of pride. We are all in a lot of pain today to lose a good young man who was just starting out."

Mayor de Blasio also said that the men and women of the 47th Precinct "are hurting right now." The mayor and Bratton both said that they had spoken at Williams' NYPD graduation.

Bratton said that the 47th Precinct command is one of the more active commands, and that it is a very close-knit command even for new officers.

"The mayor and I did have the opportunity, a few moments ago, to address many of members of the four-seven," said the police commissioner outside of the 47th station house. "They are in deep mourning, as you can imagine, for a colleague."

Williams, who wore shield #11513, is survived by his mother and his father, and was an only child. His father is a 32-year police veteran with the Carmel, N.Y. police department, said the commissioner.

"Most certainly I think Michael's father as a cop for 32-years has probably seen it all, but never expected to see something like this involving his own son," said Bratton outside the precinct, before he went to see the family.

The other officers involved in the crash were removed to St. Barnabas Hospital, Jacobi Medical Center and Lincoln. Six were released, and two were kept in the hospital overnight. All eight should recover.

- Notice of Public Hearing -

On Tuesday, October 7, at 10 a.m., a public hearing will be held in the City Council Committee Room, 2nd Floor, City Hall, Manhattan, for the purpose of considering a local law which authorizes an increase in the annual amount to be expended in the Fordham Road Business Improvement District (BID) from $625,000 to $670,000.

The local law will also authorize an expansion of the BID boundaries and a maximum property assessment limit of $45,000 per year.

Vietnam veteran's charity helps Saigon's neediest kids

BY STEVEN GOODSTEIN

A Pelham Bay-born, Vietnam vet is celebrating the ten-year anniversary of his charity.

Burke House, a children's charity started by Vietnam veteran Tom Whelan that helps Saigon children, become more educated and financially supported, will host an anniversary fundraiser on Saturday, September 27.

Tom Whelan first thought of the idea for a charity when he took a three-day tour to Vietnam and other countries in Asia in 2002. He had planned to take a retirement-like trip and settle down after ending his previous job tenure working at a computer company.

After seeing the many poor street children of Saigon, Whelan decided to start a charity with the help of his one sister and four brothers who also served in the US military in the 1960s.

In 2004, Tom Whelan created Burke House, in honor of his mother's maiden name – the goal being to educate and financially support the children from Saigon, also known as Ho Chi Minh City.

Whelan, who served in Vietnam from 1967 to 1968 including the Tet Offensive, said that his interactions with the 10-year old girl Nga greatly influenced his decision on starting this charity.

"When I first met Nga in 2002, she told me that she worked for her family by selling books to tourists," said Tom Whelan. "It made me so sad to see a girl working at such a young age while gaining no education whatsoever, so I had to sponsor and help her."

"There are many kids in Vietnam who don't receive the proper education that they should, along with kids who live in other countries that struggle with poverty. That's the reason Burke House was started – to lift the spirits of the poor street children by providing assistance to them."

Whelan began making trips to Saigon annually, providing food, tutoring and money to children in need. As the charity grew, so did the number of people that Whelan helped, eventually supporting students from Huynh De Nhu Nghia (School for the Blind) as well as other poor street children in Saigon.

"He is extremely devoted to this cause," said Geri Sciortino, owner of the Bronx Design Group, who assisted Tom back in June when he came to the store to get his fundraising journal printed for the anniversary fundraiser.

"He is so dedicated to the kids of Saigon and improving their lives. It's truly inspiring – some Vietnam veterans who were lucky to return to the US don't ever want to go back – he goes back every year to help those kids."

Ten years later, a children's charity that has been supported solely by the donation of friends and family has seen those in need be provided with education and financial support.

The Burke House anniversary fundraiser will take place on Saturday, September 27 at Honey's Thai Pavillion, located on 3036 Westchester Avenue.

Pols push for gun offender database

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

City Hall lawmakers are pushing for a searchable on-line gun offender database registry, not too dis-similar in its concept from one already in place statewide for sex offenders.

A bill introduced before the City Council and gaining traction among Bronx elected officials including co-sponsor Councilman Ritchie Torres -- as well as Senator Jeff Klein, Borough President Ruben Diaz, Assemblyman Jeff Dinowitz and Councilman Andrew Cohen -- would create an online searchable registry of gun offenders.

This would easily allow the community to search an online database by their geographic area, to see if people who have committed crimes using guns live near them.

The database would identify gun offenders for four years, at which time, if there is no other crime related to guns, the offender will be removed from the list, said a spokesman for Torres. This provides an incentive for a gun offender to stay away from guns, the spokesman said.

"We must take every measure to stem the tide of gun violence in New York City," said Torres. "This bill will create a commonsense crime-fighting tool that provides both law-enforcement and community members with real-time information on violent gun-offenders in their neighborhoods."

The information in the database will be the offender's name, block on which they live, a physical description, the crime the offender was convicted of, and sentence imposed. It will be updated monthly.

Borough President Diaz first proposed such a database in his 2013 State of the Borough address, he said.

"A safer New York State, and a safer nation, demands that we shine a light on those individuals who would commit gun crimes in our neighborhoods," said Diaz. "An easily-accessible gun crime registry will serve as an excellent tool not only to keep neighborhoods informed about crime, but to serve as a deterrent from such acts."

Senator Klein added: "New York residents deserve access to any information that will help them lead safer lives and give them the tools to better protect their families. By allowing for community access and mandating community notification to the city's gun offender registry we will give our citizens the knowledge they need to make smart choices."

Sonia Medina, 55, an anti-gun community activist from Fordham who is familiar with the legislation, said she thought it would "empower communities."

"For me, it is a very good idea because it would be easy for people to check around their neighborhood

Councilman Torres (c) speaks about the need for a gun registry, and is seen here with many elected officials from the borough at recent press event.

to see if there is someone nearby who caused violence because of guns," she said.

Indeed, violence touched Medina very recently. She said that gun violence is common in her Fordham neighborhood, and she received some shocking news in December 2013 shortly after attending an anti-violence rally. She received a phone call from her niece in Pennsylvania that a family member had been shot in the head. Gun violence is ubiquitous from other states to her Fordham community, where she says there has been an uptick recently.

"We have had quite a few deaths from gun violence in the past couple of months," she said. "It has gotten worse for sure."

Street art group 'tags' the Bronx

BY JAIME WILLIAMS

One group of artists have made it their mission to beautify Bronx streets.

TAG Public Arts Project, founded by local artist J. "SinXero" Beltran, brings artists together to treat the borough's buildings as their canvases as a way to affect change in neighborhoods.

"We encourage graffiti artists, street artists, and fine artists to work together, while enhancing the visual landscape of urban communities with art," said Beltran.

The group works with business owners who want the murals on their walls, often in spots that are plagued with graffiti tagging. The murals become a positive, uplifting thing for the community, said Beltran.

"If you put something beautiful up, people feel proud of what's in the neighborhood," he said. "They want to keep it going."

The organization brings artists, some local and others international, together to create the multiple murals at the locations, said Beltran. So far, he said the group has facilitated about 35 pieces of public art, covering 100,000 square feet of wall space.

TAG Public Arts Project, started by Beltran along with artists James "Sexer" Rodriguez and Luis "Zimad" Lamboy, is still working on gaining its non-profit status, but Beltran has grand visions for the group.

If you put something beautiful up, people feel proud of what's in the neighborhood.

He'd like the organization's projects and mission to spread outside the Bronx to other boroughs, and then to other cities.

Within the Bronx, Beltran hopes to develop an indoor space for the group with aerosol ventilation, so they can start street-art youth programs and give kids opportunities to explore their creativity.

"Idle hands are the devil's playground," said Beltran about the need for youth art programs.

Beltran said the group also has an interest in combating negative stereotypes about the Bronx. One of the ways its doing that is by developing the Bronx Street Art Tour with MCNY Tours, which brings tourists from Manhattan to see the groups murals, along with Bronx landmarks. The company hosted the first street art tour on Sunday, September 21.

TAG Public Arts Project's three artists are also part of an art exhibit, with two other collaborators, called "Bronx Quintessential" at the Andrew Freedman Home from October 24 through November 8.

To see some of their outdoor artwork, look for TAG Public Arts Project's murals at 2100 Glebe Avenue, 2303 Westchester Avenue, or 1401 Ferris Place.

To learn more, visit tagpublicartsproject.org, and to contact Beltran, email tagpublicartsproject@gmail.com.

Morris Park 'No Parking' signs cause safety issues

BY STEVEN GOODSTEIN

A pole supporting "No Parking/No Standing Anytime" signs has the residents of Morris Park and Pelham Parkway furious.

The signs, located on the Pelham Parkway South service road, between Williamsbridge Road and Yates Avenue, have created an annoyance and inconvenience amongst pedestrians and drivers that live and work in the area.

The "No Parking" sign pointing towards the beginning of the block states that it is against the law to park within its boundaries from 7 AM to 7 PM including Sundays. The "No Standing Anytime" sign pointing to the zone ahead of it states that it is against the law to park or stand in the zone at anytime.

This creates a tremendous safety issue, due to the fact that the Pelham Parkway South service road's three eastbound lanes all have to merge into one lane.

Drivers are informed of the merge once they cross Williamsbridge Road and continue along the Pelham Parkway service road with a "Lanes Merging" warning sign posted, except the sign does not advise the driver how severe the merge is.

Reversing these signs would mean that no cars would be allowed to park at the beginning of the block, creating more space for cars to maneuver instead of encountering a race-like scenario where cars jockey for position to go first after the three lanes and one turn have merged.

Having the "No Standing

Anytime" sign pointed towards the beginning of the block, and the "No Parking" sign pointed to the zone just ahead of it, drivers would also be in a safer scenario to park their cars, instead of being forced to park with numerous vehicles from the four lanes behind it.

The placements of these signs don't make any sense," said Jeremy Warneke, district manager of Community Board 11. "I believe switching these signs around would solve this problem instantly and it would make this area a lot safer for drivers and pedestrians."

The signs, which were put up in January 2013 as part of a project to rehabilitate Pelham Parkway, detach one parking zone from the rest of the parking zones, and it's unclear as to why this particular parking zone is isolated and separated from the rest.

According to Warneke, the Department of Transportation informed Community Board 11 that they would switch the signs six months ago.

"This is just one of many problems that have been caused by the attempted re-vamping of Pelham Parkway," said Frank Vignali, who was born and raised in the neighborhood.

"This is a safety issue due to poor planning by the DOT as well as the city, and it needs to be fixed before someone gets hurt or killed. I demand that DOT Commissioner Polly Trottenberg agree to a walk through with Community Board 11 and/or the Morris Park Association to discuss and fix this problem."

A pole with "No Standing Anytime" and "No Parking from 7 AM to 7 PM" signs on Pelham Parkway South has drivers wishing the zones were reversed.

Parkway walkway paths deemed unsafe

BY STEVEN GOODSTEIN

An isolated walkway in Pelham Parkway has generated numerous complaints from residents and caused a major safety issue for pedestrians.

The dirt walkway, located in the park area between Pelham Parkway North and South, near Tenbroeck and Narragansett avenues, has been an ongoing problem for residents and employees who work in the area who need to cross from one side of the parkway to the other.

The problem is that the walkway doesn't lead anywhere – anywhere or safe, that is.

While walking from Pelham Parkway North side to South, a pedestrian has the option to walk on a dirt walkway.

More than likely, this person will continue walking on the path, believing that the walkway will lead them to the other side.

This walkway is deceiv-ing, however, leading pedestrians instead into a guard rail at the end of the park on the south side that separates the park from the parkway. To go further they must climb, hop, jump – or whatever – to get over the railing and onto the Pelham Parkway service road sidewalk safely.

Easier said than done, especially when a mother is pushing a stroller or when a handicapped person needs to get to the other side of the parkway and is incapable of doing so because there is no handicap ramp.

And nobody wants to make a five-block U-turn via wheelchair.

Walking from the south side to the north side of Pelham Parkway poses the same issue for those who need to get across quickly and safely. Doctors and nurses from Jacobi Medical Center and students from the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, among others, are forced to run across the parkway to give themselves enough time to successfully hop over the railing before a car hits them.

This is also a problem for Bx12 bus passengers that get off at the bus stops on Pelham Parkway and need to get to the other side, two of these stops being located right next to the walkway.

Their placement creates the illusion that the bus stop and walkway are connected to each other, until the guard rail suggests otherwise and generates confusion.

"I always see people attempt to cross the park, either from the service road or when they get off the bus," said Orthodontist David J. Stevens, who works at 1228 Pelham Parkway South, right near the dirt walkway.

"It's dangerous for pedestrians as well as for drivers, and every time I see people attempt to get across it looks like somebody's about to get killed."

To make matters worse, a "No Pedestrian Crossing" sign right next to the bus stop faces north, making it completely invisible to the pedestrians that need to walk from the southern part of the parkway.

"I've seen parents carry baby strollers over the guard rail while watching the other children to make sure they don't get hit by traffic," said longtime Pelham Parkway resident Frank Vignali, who is outraged by this whole situation that he claims has been dragging on for over two years.

Frank Vignali also expressed the frustration the winter months create.

"When it snowed last winter, the dirt walkway was shoveled and the sidewalks on the service road weren't," said Vignali. "When the dirt walkway is shoveled, or any walkway for that matter, it's ensuring people that they are eligible to walk there."

"Somebody is going to get hurt because the city chose not to listen to the people in our neighborhood that have problems crossing the parkway on a daily basis," said Vignali.

"I don't care how many or how few people cross Pelham Parkway. In this situation, two people crossing is too many people crossing."

CB 10 makes Fiscal Year 2015 budget requests

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

Community Board 10 submitted its wish list for the upcoming city budget, which will be finalized in June.

The process, which includes a number of written recommendations and public hearings with board members and the community, is already underway with four major Fiscal Year 2015 recommendations made so far from CB 10, said district manager Kenneth Kearns.

According to Kearns, the four key requests, in no particular order, are: the dredging of Hammond Cove in Throggs Neck; acknowledgement that the elliptical buildings, the “pavilion” at Orchard Beach, could be turned into a year-round performing arts center; expediting of the Country Club/Waterbury Avenue sewer reconstruction project; and getting more police and law-enforcement vehicles for the 45th Precinct.

“We did not do very well last year, no board did,” said Kearns of CB 10 capital and expense budget requests for Fiscal Year 2014. But he held out hope that community boards might do better this year with the de Blasio administration in place.

“All the indications are the current administration is going to try to do things a little differently than they were done in the past,” he said. “It was elected with a different mandate, so we will see what they can do.”

Hammond Cove

Hammond Cove, near Locust Point, is not living up to its potential because it is silted up and needs to be dredged, said the district manager. It is the site of a city-owned marina, as well as a private one that serves as a rescue site for the FDNY boats, according to sources.

“There is a big boat-owning public in Community Board 10, and on top of that there are other waterborne sports that could be launched from that site, like kayaking or jet-skiing or canoeing,” said Kearns.

The district manager believes that the state Department of Environmental Conservation could also be helpful in moving the dredging projects.

Locust Point Yacht Club member Pat Devine concurred that DEC might be of help. He said that at low tide, many larger boats cannot get in or out of the channel, and this would include FDNY that sometimes dock at LPYC.

Orchard Beach, built by 20th Century public works honcho Robert Moses, said Kearns, also has more potential.

“We think that it can be winterized,” he said, adding “we think that they should work on that and make it a year-round event space.”

Sewer Project Change Order

A sewer replacement project in Country Club around Waterbury Avenue hit a snag when the contractor discovered a large boulder which changed the scope of the work, according to several sources.

The board is advocating for an expedited ‘change-order’, if possible. The process usually takes several months, said Kearns.

More Police at 45th Precinct

The board service area

needs more police for a variety of reasons, including the newly opened malls, an increased population, and a drug-trade that is different than all other Bronx precincts, said Kearns.

“We just need more cops because it is one of the largest geographic regions that needs to be patrolled and we don’t have enough of them,” the district manager said.

HHC Medicaid workshop

The New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation (HHC) and the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) will host a free public workshop at Lincoln Medical Center to help residents understand and get the most out of benefits during the Medicare open enrollment period, which will take place October 15 to December 7, 2014. Health insurance specialists from CMS will conduct a learning session at Lincoln Medical Center on Friday, November 21, 2014. Senior citizens, caregivers and people who work with seniors are particularly encouraged to attend.

The session will offer information about health care reform, the Affordable Care Act (ACA) and how to select and purchase on the online New York State of Health, an exchange set up under the ACA last year to provide subsidized health insurance. Open enrollment for New York State of Health takes place November 15, 2014 through February 15, 2015.

The workshop will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Free registration is required. More information, including online registration and a map of each location, is available at the links below. Participants may also register by calling 212-788-3450.

Free computer classes for older adults will be held at the Riverdale Senior Services, Century Building, 2600 Netherland Avenue, every Tuesday and Thursday from October 7 till December 11 and will include Computer Basics (9-10:15 AM) and Beyond the Basics (10:30-11:45 AM).

For more information, call Diana Vayserfirova at 718-884-5900 x25.

The New York Botanical Garden has released a new season of more than 350 daytime, evening, and weekend classes for adults for Fall/Winter 2014-2015.

Courses in diverse subject areas such as Landscape Design, Botany, Gardening, Floral Design, Horticultural Therapy, and Wellness offer students an in-depth understanding of nature and plants as well as practical ways to integrate plants into their daily lives. Both recreational students seeking short-term workshops and those seeking professional expertise through the Certificate program can register online at nybg.org/adulted or by phone at 800.322.NYBG.

Bartow-Pell Mansion Museum (BPMM) launches its new periodic Young Scholar Talks with a lecture and Q&A with BPMM intern and Bard Graduate Center student Claire McRee on Wednesday, September 24th at 4:00 pm. In her talk, "Paleness, Purity, Cleaness: White Clothing in the 19th and Early 20th Centuries," McRee will discuss the history of white as a color for baby clothes, every day and wedding dresses, and the association of white with innocence and purity.

A pop-up exhibit in conjunction with McRee's talk, featuring 19th century accessories from the Bartow-Pell Mansion Museum collection, will also be on display on September 24th and continue through mid-November.

Bartow-Pell Mansion Museum's Young Scholar Talks is a new program highlighting the academic work of the museum's graduate-level interns and will take place periodically throughout the year. The 1842 Greek Revival Bartow-Pell Mansion is the perfect platform for talks and pop-up exhibits which mostly focus on various aspects of life in 19th century America.

Registration for the Young Scholar Talks is requested at 718-885-1461 or via email at info@bpmm.org. Cost; free.

Charlie Vázquez, BCA

Bronx Writers Center director, is being awarded Hispanic Heritage Month recognition for his work with burgeoning writers in the Bronx and beyond. The ceremony will take place at Surrogate's Courthouse in Manhattan, at 31 Chambers Street, on Tuesday, September 23rd, 6:00pm. Vázquez will be one of several New York City-area figures being honored for their work in different sectors of the Latino community.

The Bronx Writers Center is the literary division of the Bronx Council on the Arts and provides free writing workshops and professional development support to writers of all genre and skill levels throughout the borough. For more information email: bronxwriters@bronxarts.org.

Sanitation Commissioner Kathryn Garcia has named Bridget Anderson as DSNY's Deputy Commissioner for Recycling and Sustainability. Anderson was serving as Acting Deputy Commissioner after the departure of Ron Gonen, and has also served the Department as Director of Recycling Operations.

While with DSNY, Anderson led the City's residential organics collection pilot, successfully expanding the program to serve 250,000 New Yorkers in 100,000 households in all five boroughs.

As Deputy Commissioner, Bridget will be responsible for the development and implementation of the Department's sustainability initiatives, with particular focus on waste reduction, composting, and recycling programs. She will also oversee future expansions of the organics collection program, and will coordinate the Department's preparation for the New York State e-waste disposal ban that will take effect in January.

CITY ISLAND CLAM CHOWDER FESTIVAL

Senator Jeff Klein joined City Island restaurant owners and residents at Hawkins Park on City Island for his 2nd Annual City Island Clam Chowder Festival on Sunday, October 14. The chowder festival took place during the annual City Island Chamber of Commerce Arts & Crafts Fall Fair. Fair goers enjoyed samples of chowders from participating local restaurants and had the opportunity to vote for their favorite. Three awards were given: People's Choice Chowder; Best Manhattan Clam Chowder; and Best New England Clam Chowder. Judging the competition was Senator Klein, Broadway Actress Kara Tremble on tour with the Tony Award Winning Jersey Boys!, John Doyle of the City Island Civic Association and City Island Current fleet captain Chris Cullen. The People's Choice winners were Artie's and The Lobster House for the Best New England Clam Chowder, and Morris Yacht Club and the Ale House for the Best Manhattan Clam Chowder. The judges chose Sammy's Fish Box for the Best New England Clam Chowder, and the Morris Yacht Club for the Best Manhattan Clam Chowder.

NY RISING BACK AGAIN

Governor Cuomo’s New York Rising initiative held its second community meeting designed to identify strategies to deal with emergencies related to coastal damage due to hurricanes for the East Bronx Waterfront area. The public forum was held at Providence Rest Nursing Home on Wednesday, September 17. After a short presentation, the audience members met with representatives from NY Rising, which is continuing to gather input from the area as was previously reported. They will come back soon with some suggestions on how to make the waterfront area less fragile in the wake of storms like Superstorm Sandy, Hurricane Irene, and Tropical Storm Lee.

PROFILE

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

Pastor Jay Gooding Sr. is on a mission to stop gun violence, and to spread the "good news" of the gospel.

While leading and providing spiritual sustenance as pastor of two churches - Fellowship Tabernacle in Williamsbridge, which he founded 17 years ago, and Miracle Revival Temple near the Grand Concourse - he is also one of the leading lights in an anti-violence program based out of Jacobi Medical Center called Stand Up to Violence.

The anti-violence initiative employs people to try to prevent retaliation when shootings happen in communities and Gooding, 52, leads rallies within 72-hours of gun violence to urge a stop to bloodshed. The program, also referred to as SNUG ('guns' spelled backwards), was founded earlier this year by Senator Jeff Klein with other elected officials and medical, religious and community leaders.

"I have been called on through pastoring to help families who have lost loved ones tragically," said Gooding, adding that he was asked by Senator Klein to be a part of the program.

"I believe in ministry, and I look at ministry as being able to serve," he said of his work. "The reward that I get is being able to serve and maybe save a life. I do about 200 funerals a year and I am tired of burying our young people. But if we can bring 'life' to them, and save a life, that is the greatest thing we can ever do."

Gooding came from a church family. He is the son of the late Bishop Ceacer Gooding of Miracle Revival Temple. His father was pastor of the temple until 2009, when Gooding became co-pastor there with his mother Josephine Gooding. Both houses of worship are now referred to as "one church in two locations."

His entry into ministry was partially through gospel music, he said. He began playing the organ at age of five, and became the organist at his father's church when he was 11. While in his teens, he played football for DeWitt Clinton High School.

From 1984 through 1987 he was a member of the award-winning gospel music group "The Ecstatistics." His music ministry led him to establishing a community choir: "Jay Gooding and the Fellowship" in 1991. The choir has recorded five albums, including a track called "No Stopping Us Now - The Remix Project," which was a number one single on a countdown of WTBE, a gospel music radio station.

While at times he never thought he would become a pastor, music helped lead Gooding back to God, he said. He preached his first sermon in 1993. Today, he is a Bronx superintendent for the Church of God in Christ.

His community service is extensive, including: president of the 49th Precinct Clergy Council, the executive board of the 44th Precinct Clergy Coalition from 2002 to 2008, executive of Chaplains Helping in Police Situations (C.H.I.P.S.), and now director of community outreach for SUTV. He is the recipient of the 49th Precinct Community Council's Tom Twyman Citizen of the Year Award for 2009, and NYPD 2013 Partnership in the Community Award.

He is married to Nicole Stacey Ann Gooding, and has four children and five grandchildren. Gooding said that his motto is "life is a gift from God; what we do with that life is a gift to God."

The Schuyler Hill Civic Association, under the leadership of president Bob Kurz, held their annual Summer Olympics on Sunday, August 25. The day of fun was a family gathering that included running and swimming races, an orange gathering contest, potato sack races, an egg throwing contest, a hula hoop challenge, three-legged races, sponge & bucket races, and pie and watermelon eating contest. There was an awards ceremony where the winners received trophies, medals, toys, or cash prizes.

The Reunion at Lehman Center

Lehman Center for the Performing Arts presents for the first time at La Casa de la Salsa The Reunion: Jose Alberto "El Canario" with the original stars of La Típica'73, Johnny Rodriguez, Sonny Bravo, Alfredo De La Fé, Tito Allen, Camilo Azuquita, and more on Saturday, October 25, at 8pm. The concert will also feature a special presentation of Jose Alberto's new album Romantico y Rumbero. Produced by Lehman Center and José Raposo.

Lehman Center for the Performing Arts is on the campus of Lehman College/CUNY at 250 Bedford Park Boulevard West. Tickets are $50, $45, and $30 and can be purchased by calling 718-960-8833

Jose Alberto "El Canario" is nicknamed El Canario (The Canary) because of his exquisite voice and amazing ability to use his highly melodious whistling skills as a soloing instrument. Born in 1958, he is one of the most successful and respected artists on the salsa music scene with a recording history spanning 39 years and 23 solo albums.

TÍPICA'73 was a popular New York Cuban charanga and salsa dura orchestra in the 1970s and early 1980s known for their experimental style of combining conjunto percussive instruments (congos, timbales and bongos) with a horn section and for being the first US-based Latin orchestra to record in Cuba.

Johnny "Dandy" Rodriguez, Jr., the son of Latin percussionist Johnny "La Vaca" Rodriguez, joined Tito Puente's Orchestra as bongocero and also played with Tito Rodriguez from 1965 to 1968 and Ray Barretto from 1970 to 1972.

Sonny Bravo is a founding and long time member of Típica'73, he has also recorded and performed with Tito Puente, José Fajardo, Many Campo and Bobby Paunetto. In 1975, he took over as Típica'73's band leader until they disbanded in 1983.

rock on the bronx

by Fish Altieri

Does the band have a sustainable crowd? This is a question local rock bands may ask each other when they start to notice that the gigs only attract a few people.

Is the crowd made up of true fans or is it the crowd the band had to beg to come to see them?

Is the band playing a top of the line rock venue and the crowd is made up of Aunt's and Uncle's and far-away cousins who, although it is nice that they came to support, are only good for one gig, if at all?

Is this crowd supporting the venue through food or drink or just standing there watching the band in question do their thing and then leave soon after?

Rock on. Rock out.

Fordham Road BID asks: What do you want?

The Fordham Road BID, manager of one of the largest and busiest business districts in the City, wants to know what you want. The BID is asking the residents and visitors of their shopping district on Fordham Road to take a survey so that the BID may recruit the stores and restaurants most desired by the community.

The survey is available online at <http://fordhamrd-survey.com> and you can go there now to share your opinions. The survey is anonymous and no one will be asked to register or provide any information more personal than their home zip code.

“This is a chance for the people of our community and its visitors to share their ideas and provide feedback that we can use to provide them with better retail choices,” said the BID’s Executive Director, Wilma Alonso. “Completing the survey will take only a few minutes, but the information it provides will have a direct impact on our quality of life, and make for a better shopping and dining visit. Please take the survey and share your ideas about Fordham Road with us.”

People who do not have Internet access at home are encouraged to take the survey on their smart phones.

The survey will be open through mid-October, and the Fordham Road BID expects to deliver the full results of the survey to the public early in November. Attached to this email you will find a copy of the press release file as well as a color copy of handouts (bilingual in English & Spanish) that the BID is distributing to promote the survey, etc.

MP oldtimers hold reunion at Conti's Pastry Shoppe

Quite some time ago Junior Cavaluzzi suggested that I stop by Conti's Pastry Shoppe at 786 Morris Park Avenue to look at all the original woodwork, ceilings, etc. which has not been altered since Augustino Conti installed them in 1921. Of course, Junior also urged me to try their pastries which are among the best in New York City. Then a few days ago I got a notice from Nick DiBrino that he was hosting a reunion at Conti's of Morris Park old-timers and I was invited.

I went and enjoyed talking with Pete and Joe Chandry, Gene Fruspino, Bob Capellupo, Nick and the others. They were all just a few years older than I, but we all shared similar memories growing up. They talked about the card games in Chandry's basement, doing bicycle tricks on Kinsella Street in front of the DiBrino or Fruspino home and the like. There were, of course, a few who like Bob Araldi who couldn't make it but called to do you remember

by Bill Twomey

give their best wishes to the group. Nick DiBrino also arranged for Sissy Florio to act as the photographer for the event and she did a magnificent job. Conti's has become more than a meeting site for these old-timers, it's an icon. They all grew up on Conti's pastries and all remember the Conti family.

Augustino Conti created a little bit of heaven in Morris Park when he left Palermo, Sicily to open up his Bronx pastry shoppe. Yet, it was more than a bakery as breakfast and other meals were also served during the early years. The store remained in the family until his great-grandson, Orlando, had no one to pass it on to. About nine years ago, he sold out to Sal Paljevic who has been treating it with the same love and attention that Augustino did. He's a hands-on proprietor who has gotten the whole family involved. Among the key personnel is Christina DiRusso who does all the cake designing and runs the wedding expos, etc. She loves the work and it becomes apparent in the end product.

The biggest seller at Conti's is their Boston Cream Pie and before the holidays customers are line up outside to pick up their orders and it is wise to order in advance. We all had something different at the reunion and mine was a whipped cream filled éclair. Everyone else's choice also looked great but I couldn't possible taste them all in one sitting. I'll have to go back but in the meantime should thank Nick DiBrino for the treat. He was a great host and treated the entire crew.

Nick DiBrino (l) organized a reunion of Morris Park old-timers on Friday, September 24, at Conti's Pastry Shoppe located at 786 Morris Park Avenue. Some of the attendees are pictured here enjoying their coffee and pastries. Nick chose this time for the reunion since Peter Chandry (r) was up from Florida for the week

If funeral homes were all the same, ours wouldn't be the family choice.

The families of our community so often choose our funeral home. Some come to us to pre-plan arrangements because we offer all the options and choices they desire. Others come to us at their time of need seeking guidance, support and the certainty of a funeral service that is correct in every way. Should your family find itself in need of our services, we hope you'll make the choice so many in our community have.

Preston's Winter Gala

Preston High School announces their 2014 Winter Gala Celebration, which will take place on Friday, December 5 at 7 p.m. at Beckwith Pointe in New Rochelle. As a part of the celebratory program, PHS will pay tribute to its strong ties to the Bronx Community—three amazing Bronx natives who are also members of the Preston family: Sr. Carol Wagner, RDC '69,

PHS alumna, former faculty member and current president of the Sisters of the Divine Compassion; Mary Hussey Piscina '80, alumna and member of the Board of Trustees; and William "Bill" Twomey (posthumous), husband and father of Preston alumnae, prominent Throggs Neck community leader and legendary Bronx historian. In addition, a special tribute will be made to the first graduating class of Preston High School, the "Preston Pioneers," the Class of 1951.

For more information about the gala or to make reservations contact Gianna Dell'Olio in the Advancement Office at (718) 863-9134 x. 195 or gdellolio@prestonhs.org. Sponsorships and journal ads are also available.

SPELLMAN BEGINS ACADEMIC YEAR WITH MASS

On Friday, September 5, over 1,400 students from Cardinal Spellman High School, accompanied by the administration, faculty, and staff, gathered together for the annual Mass of the Holy Spirit, held at the start of each new school year. The principal celebrant this year was Father John Kraljic of the Theology Department, who was joined by Father James O'Shaughnessy, Father John Monaghan, Father Peter Pilsner, and Father Francis Principe, faculty members at the school. Immediately following the Mass, the new Student Body President Justin Henry, and Vice President, Tiffany Creary, were administered the oath of office by Mr. Daniel O'Keefe, Principal of Cardinal Spellman. Each year the President and Vice President, together with the Executive Committee of Student Government, organize and coordinate various school-wide events and activities such as International Culture Day, Candy-Grams, Give a Gift at Christmas time for children in the community, Teacher Appreciation Day, school dances, and many other activities.

Last year participants of the Salesian High School Golf Outing.

Salesian's Annual Golf Outing

Have you ever wanted to stand on the field while the New York Mets take batting practice, and then watch the game from the Delta Suite? How about being at NBC's Private Party at The Rockefeller Center's Christmas Tree Lighting? These are only two of the many items being auctioned or raffled away at the Salesian High School Hall of Fame Golf Outing this year.

Salesian High School, New Rochelle, will host their 16th Annual Golf Outing Monday, September 29th at Lake Isle Country Club in Eastchester. Each year the event is successful, but this year promises to deliver some fresh excitement. Some of the auction/raffle items this year include (in addition to the two prizes above):

- A tour of CBS studios and an opportunity to watch The NFL Today Show being produced live
- Shadow the Business Development Exec of the NHL for a day

- 4 Premium Club seats to a NY Red Bull game + access to the field for warm-ups

- 2 NY Rangers tickets w/ access to Delta Club

- 2 tickets to the Giants/Redskins game – field level on the 50 yard line

- Samsung Galaxy Tab 16 GB and two 40" Smart TVs

- Autographed Goose Gossage, Willie Randolph, Dwight Gooden, Johnny Damon, and Rick Nash items

Salesian is inducting graduates Mark Silo, Charles Tucci, Lenny Mecca, and Billy Giles into their prestigious Hall of Fame this year. Each of these men will be presented with a framed high school jersey which will be hung in the Br. Jim Wiegand Athletic Center, Salesian's relatively new, enormous building. You can be a part of this year's Hall of Fame Golf Outing and have access to this incredible auction by calling Nick Sabino in the Salesian Advancement Department at phone number 914-632-0365 or by emailing him at nsabino@salesianhigh.org.

Salesian High School is full-steam ahead, taking the 2014-2015 school year by storm and recently announcing a major partnership with Mercedes-Benz of New Rochelle. This brand new partnership is a good indication of Salesian's sincerity in improving the lives of each of its students. Mercedes-Benz of New Rochelle and Salesian are both looking forward to a tremendously successful relationship.

70% of Salesian consists of Bronx residents who commute by either public transportation or private bus. Salesian will host its Fall Open House on October 18th, 2014 from 12:00 PM – 3:00 PM. All who wish to attend should plan to arrive early as the event fills up quickly. If there was ever a time to visit this school, now is definitely that time!

Stepinac holds open house

Archbishop Stepinac High School—the all boys, secondary school at 950 Mamaroneck Avenue, White Plains—will hold its Fall Open House, from 1 to 4 p.m., Sunday, October 26.

The Open House will provide parents and future high school students with information about the school, along with its academic, sports and extra-curricular programs.

Visitors will be able to tour the facilities and grounds which have undergone significant improvements recently. Highlights include the state-of-the-art Mastronardi Technology Center, new physics lab, video conference center, athletic fields equipped with state-of-the-art artificial turf and Major Bowes Theater. Visitors will also have an opportunity to learn more about the all-digital textbook library, the first of its kind in the nation, that was implemented a year ago and has already improved academic performance.

Tours and presentations by administration and faculty members including the participation of the students are scheduled for 1, 2 and 3 p.m.

Minutes in Letter form of our meeting April 15, 2014

I regards to the Capri/Whitestone Motel becoming a Homeless Shelter: With the many detrimental and dangerous burdens that this location places on the homeless we hope that NYC finds a better location for these families so they can grow and develop without spending half their day walking through our neighborhood and transferring around on buses to get to school and any other appointments. Half their allotted income to pay for cabs and the MTA fares that go over the transfers allowed for students. Then only to get home and breathe in fumes and hear the noise all night from the toll booths and Pepsi Trailers parked outside their windows. There is no playground for small children; there are no fences to stop access to swamps and a rocky deep fall area into Westchester Creek (within ½ block). This is a flood zone and the synthetic field at Ferry Point Park (across the street from the Motel) was approx. 3 feet deep in water during Sandy and evacuation during crisis is not in place. We also have heard that there are no kitchens supplied in their small rooms which is a law?.

If this is a shelter for Mothers with infants and or toddlers with daycare for the Moms to reach permanent housing it may work. If the children are active and need outdoor play areas it is dangerous. If they are teens they will be bored into mischief. If they are late teens there is nothing for them to do here. No community centers, library is 1 mile away.

Well we will do research and combine our efforts with those of our neighborhood businesses and Elected Officials and others to attempt to have the "Done Deal" shelter moved to a better location that will benefit the residents that NYC is trying to provide assistance to. This may end

civic center

Ferry Point

up as a lawsuit that at least shows NYC that they should re think their present policy of just flopping families into inappropriate neighborhoods that do not fulfill the needs of these families to make a successful transition to permanent housing. While at the same time diminishing the economic engine that helps run the city by eliminating this viable location from the available space to create jobs and taxes.

A family with a car can get their kids up at 7am. A family without a car has to get them up around 5am and they are still late many times due to weather and traffic conditions. A family with washing machine/dryer in their home can do other chores while the machine is working. Families without this option have to use the bathtub or take a cab to carry laundry to E. Tremont to wash and a cab back.

Of course our neighborhood has sympathy for the homeless and wishes the best location for them. But we also know that ongoing forcing of homeless into neighborhoods with basically no amenities for them is not helping them but instead piling more burdens on their shoulders.

How can anyone say it is fair to take any empty building and move families in within a week without preparing the neighborhood for this? The City is creating a fear and shunning wall between the homeless and the neighbors who are already overwhelmed with daily fighting for traffic studies, street paving, double parking of huge buses for repair at HO Penn, noisy Pepsi Trucks doing their inventory in front of our homes, intermittent sidewalks, proper "no idling" and "5 ton limit" signage etc.

We know from experience that families without at least one car have a problem existing in this neighborhood due to limited public transportation service. The public schools are over a mile away and they are full to capacity. The buses available are ¼ mile through dangerous streets with intermittent sidewalks, no speed bumps, no street lights and no crossing guards. The available bus lines take 3 transfers to get to Lehman HS and maybe 3 to get to IS 192. At our meeting we were able to discuss these problems with those who could attend on short notice. Our Community Board District Manager Ken Kerns and our Chairperson Martin Prince called as the meeting was in process to ask to attend. They were available to sit with us and explain our situation from their eyes, research and information. We thank them for their help. So far Councilman Vacca, Assemblyman Benedetto, Senator Klein and Borough President Diaz are in agreement with the poor choice of the location and have expressed this in various media. They also feel this is to important a location to take off the market in this economically developing area. The outcome of our meeting was to continue to support homeless shelters in general but also to express concerns with the choice of the location of this particular shelter. This Motel is an expensive piece of property and it is located in a prime spot for something more fitting to the economic development of the Bronx. We had hoped Donald Trump or Simone Development might have stepped up and continued their development in the Hutchinson River Parkway Corridor with this site (and the irregular triangle spot next to it with a billboard on it that might advertise the Golf Course) to guarantee a continuous upgrade to this area offering jobs that are so important to prevent homelessness in our borough.

Living with MS

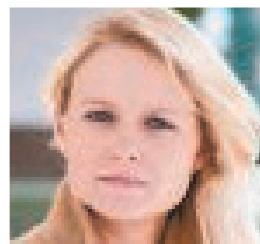

An ever-growing popular concept in personal healthcare is the idea of the empowered patient. This term can mean different things to different people, but the general concept is that an individual makes well-informed health decisions based on research and conversations with their physician. One person who has applied this concept to her own personal health is Florida-native, Leslie Cunningham.

In January 2012, at just 26-years old, Leslie was diagnosed with a chronic disease called relapsing multiple sclerosis (MS). For almost a year, she experienced some of the common symptoms many people living with MS experience, including extreme fatigue and numbness and tingling in her spine, hands and feet.

According to the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, MS involves an immune system attack against the central nervous system which is made up of the brain, spinal cord and the optic nerves. MS occurs when the body's immune cells get confused and attack the protective coating that surrounds the nerve fibers in the central nervous system (called myelin). When this coating protecting the nerves is attacked, it causes disruptions in transmissions from the brain to the body which can result in many different physical and cognitive problems. MS is thought to affect more than 2.3 million people worldwide.

Leslie was determined to not let MS get her down and to continue living her life. After much research and weighing the pros and cons of different therapies, Leslie found the right one for her. "The first step I took was having an open conversation with my doctor about how to treat what is a lifelong condition. I read a lot of newspaper articles, health columns, research and online forums. Thanks to those conversations, I was put on an oral MS treatment called AUBAGIO® (teriflunomide)."

LESLIE CUNNINGHAM

Using the tools of an empowered patient, Leslie was able to understand her disease and change the way she was treating her condition. Leslie has become an advocate for herself and others.

Leslie's advice: "Speak up! Be your own advocate. Everyone always tells you this, but if something is bothering you, talk to your doctor. Even if it is an embarrassing problem or it seems silly – most doctors have heard it all and they can help! My diagnosis started as a slight tingle in my spine when picking up a pen off the floor. It could have been nothing and turned out to be something.

Those interested in learning more about AUBAGIO or MS can visit AUBAGIO.com.

National Falls Prevention Day

BY LAUREN MARANO PT, PHYSICAL THERAPIST WITH THE VISITING NURSE SERVICE OF NEW YORK

September 23rd marks National Falls Prevention Day, a day set aside to raise awareness about how to prevent fall-related injuries among older adults.

According to the National Council on Aging, Falls are the leading cause of fatal and non-fatal injuries for seniors—70% of these falls occur in the home. Additionally, every 15 seconds, an older adult is treated in the emergency room for a fall, and falls can often begin a downward spiral of related and serious health issues. But there's no doubt that with or without injury, falls can heavily impact the quality of life for both active and homebound seniors. Underestimating the risk from falls can lead to hospitalization and serious illness.

As a licensed occupational therapist with the not-for-profit Visiting Nurse Service of New York my work every day is to work with individuals and their loved ones to develop goals for treatment, and coordinate with other medical providers – like doctors and nurses – to deliver a plan of care that meets an individual's needs.

It's worth the time to remind ourselves of some tips and techniques for avoiding falls, like how to assess a home environment for potential fall hazards, how to choose footwear and ensure walking aids for stability, and how to find local resources that can help seniors be more active in building strength and increasing balance.

Staying Safe at Home—use a home safety assessment checklist to review all rooms and outdoor areas; remove clutter on the floor; tape down rugs/cords; arrange furniture to widen pathways; keep commonly used items in easy reach; do not use step stools; fix uneven surfaces.

• Staying Safe On the Go—always wear sturdy shoes; use handrails on stairs; avoid wet floors and wipe up spills immediately; be sure chairs and other furniture are stable; check for adequate lighting; consider safety items such as grab bars, raised toilet seats, non-skid tub mats and carry a cell or portable phone for easy access, especially if you live alone.

• Balance, Strength and Mobility—work on strength and balance by being active; consider activities such as light exercise programs, weight training, walking programs, Tai Chi, yoga, and hobbies like bowling, dancing and gardening; talk with a health professional before beginning any physical activities.

• Multiple Medications—review all medications, both over-the-counter and prescription drugs, with your doctor and pharmacist; always carry a list of your medications; do not share or "borrow" medications; know the common side effects for each drug; and remember to take medications as described.

• Most importantly, know your PERSONAL risk factors for falls—such as weakness in the legs, previous history of falling, vision problems, cognitive impairment, dizziness, urinary incontinence, being over age 80, walking and balance problems.

BY MARY JANE MUSANO

I want to share with you some very disturbing information that was written in an article in New Business magazine. It will make you angry without a doubt. And I hope your anger inspires you to contact the offices of every area politician as well as our Borough President. We, the residents of the Bronx, need help now!

The Bronx has taken on more city-financed supportive housing in the past decade than any other borough. The author, Eddie Smalls, gives us the distressing breakdown "From 2005 Through March 2014, the city has paid to create roughly 2,500 units of supportive housing in the borough...Manhattan followed with approximately 1,711 units, then Brooklyn with 1,644, Queens with 52 and Staten Island with 19."

If you are not furious yet, let me present it this way.

The per capita distribution of supportive housing in the Bronx is about 90 times greater than it is in Queens! So what are the residents, politicians, and civic leaders in Queens doing that we are not doing? How did the balance become so even—so unfair? Unfortunately, the article does not give us the answer. But we, as residents of the Bronx, should be lighting fires under our politicians to get the answers.

Right now we have supportive housing at the Pelham Grande and at the Capri Motel. Neither program gave proper notice. They never do! No community, no matter how understanding they are, will ever welcome a supportive housing program when they sneak in under the cover of darkness and then try to deceive the community about the details of their program. And we should let them know just how unacceptable it is

Waterbury LaSalle Community Assoc.

every chance we get!

Now, of course we know that some supportive housing is needed but with a downturned economy the amount should correspond to the city and State's ability to pay for it. Too many people that can get along on their own do not. Therefore there should be strict guidelines as to who qualifies and how long help will be provided.

Now, it's apparent that no one in city government really cares whether or not a program is accepted into the community, because if they did programs would enter the community in a respectful way and they would be balanced throughout the city so that every community is required to shoulder the burden.

The best way to have a supportive housing program be accepted and even welcomed into a community is to have most of the residents of the program be from the community. People are much more willing to help people they know and residents want to be near relatives and friends. They want to shop in stores they are familiar with. Generally speaking, they want to be in familiar surroundings.

This would go a long way toward helping the residents of supportive housing achieve their goals. Very simply, if supportive housing was equally distributed throughout the boroughs it would much easier to place program participants close to their own community.

I encourage you to go to our politicians, civic leaders and our Borough President, armed with the unbalanced numbers, and tell them that they must not stop fighting until the goal of balanced placement is achieved.

I do know that Senator Klein, Councilman Vacca and Assemblyman Benedetto are working on this but the work that is done must put us much closer to fairness. We thank them for their efforts.

I sent an e-mail to Tom Lucania, who works for the Borough President, asking for the Borough President to intercede in helping to close the program at the Pelham Grande. As of now, they do not have a contract. Let's stop them before they get one! I will let you know when I get a response from our Borough President.

The Borough President did write a letter asking that a more appropriate placement be chosen for the program at the Capri Motel. We thank him for that effort. Let's hope they heed his suggestion!

Fruit Tree Giveaway

Our tree giveaway will be on September 27th beginning at 12:00 noon at the First Lutheran Church of Throggs Neck on Baisley and Hollywood Avenues. We are offering peach, pear, apricot and fig trees. Don't miss this wonderful selection!

If you registered for a tree, please do not come later than 1:00pm. We will hold your tree until 1:00 only. If it is not picked up by that time it will be offered to participants that have not registered.

Please remember that you need to bring ID proving that you live in NYC and your tree must be planted in the ground in NYC.

Tell your friends and neighbors that they may get a free tree on Saturday, September 27th. We hope to see you there!

A word from councilman Jimmy Vacca: On Friday, October 3rd, I will be hosting the Mobile Mammogram Van, which will offer free breast cancer screenings to women in my district. The van will be parked outside of my office, located at 3040 East Tremont Avenue, from 10 AM to 2 PM. Eligible women must be over 40 and have not had a mammogram in the past year. There is no charge for women with no health insurance coverage, but if you have insurance, please bring your card.

The screenings are by appointment only, so please call my office at 718-931-1721 and speak with Frank to reserve your space.

Irwin tools has created the National Tradesman Day to celebrate all tradesmen in all fields for what you do for us customers every day. So a big shout out to all the hydronic heating and plumbing contractors out there — thanks for all you do to make us comfortable and keep us healthy and safe. And, a reminder to have your heating systems and flues cleaned and tuned for the winter season.

The Pelham Grand, so far no response from the letters which were sent out to the NYC Departments of Buildings, City Planning, and Health. It will probably take a few more weeks before we begin to hear any news on the communities request for the suspension of funding to ASCNYC.

that should no way happen just like the Grand should not happen. Homeless persons are in need of housing and services. The lack of services at this location makes the placement of families there a joke.

It is apparent that the management of how services are provided to the homeless needs to be investigated. The placement of homeless shelters in any NYC community has always proven to cause damage to the very essence of the communities that have been chosen.

Homeless people especially families need services. But the right kind of services.

We're requesting that Senator Klein who is the Chairman of the New York State Senate Committee on Mental Health conduct Senate hearings in our community to begin the process of changing and improving the delivery of services to the homeless.

In the past Senator Klein has served admirably as the Chairman of a Senate sub-committee charged with finding efficiencies and cost savings within the State budget. In this capacity he has identified cost savings and numerous better ways to deliver much needed services by State Agencies and Departments.

The Senator's skills, no-how, and talents will go along way towards developing ways to serve the homeless, provide affordable housing for the elderly, and bless all our Veteran's with decent clean inexpensive housing.

It is time to not only argue against certain ill advised shelters being imposed upon our communities, but to also demand that the laws which give the Department of Homeless Services dictatorial powers be changed. These laws and regulations must include the voice of the people who make up the communities that have been targeted.

That is right targeted. To move in under the cover of darkness is to acknowledge that what you are doing is not good for the community. To omit the voice of the public is to deny our taxpayers the very franchise which they have worked so hard to achieve. That is the right to live peacefully in a community that is safe and secure.

As for the families that have been moved in. I can't conceive of no greater harm then to repeatedly expose a child to a community whose message is, you're not wanted. The truth is, it is not the child that is not wanted. What is not wanted is the lawlessness which comes along as a by product of shelters that are created without the services that this child's family needs in order to get out of a state of homelessness and become an upstanding member of our society.

It is easy to say that the Pelham Bay and East Bronx communities are extreme. But we all need to remember that these communities will give anyone the clothes off their backs if you are truly in need and your behavior does not undermine our communities has good places to live and raise our families.

Such as we want this for ourselves most of us also want it for others. But to bring unsupervised persons with issues and some of their issues being major problems is not good for any community.

Register the homeless and then stuff them into any community you can, because you can is not a policy that will succeed in eradicating the homeless problem.

Further more if we have homeless persons because the out of state communities they come from will not provide services, well then that needs to be addressed as of yesterday. We are not the nations social services agency, period.

We look forward to Senator Klein holding hearings on this matter. Hopefully this can be done within the next six weeks.

The next Pelham Bay Taxpayers meeting will held on October 20, 2014. The meeting will take place in the Saint Theresa School Cafeteria located at the corner of Saint Theresa Ave and Pilgrim Ave. The room opens at 7:00pm and the meeting begins at 7:30pm. We hope to see you.

Hello All!

Quick update on me. I'm scheduled to go back to Einstein Hospital on October 9 for a re-attachment of the intestine and I'm getting rid of the colostomy bag. Hopefully, the re-attachment will be inside! Oh, I'm kidding.

On Sunday, October 5, 2014, the Triboro Chapter of The Nam Knights of America Motorcycle club will have a Police Escorted motorcade Honoring Vets of all wars. The assembly area is Midland Beach, Staten Island at 9 AM. Departure is at 11 AM. The concluding ceremony honoring all Vets and to show support for our Troops at Manhattan's Veterans Memorial Plaza. You are invited to join us following the Run at 700 West 125th Street between 12 Avenue and Riverside Drive. Donation: $20.00 per Bike, $25.00 with Rider Helmets are required by law, no attitudes! more info? call Breed at 718-830-0733 or T-Love; 917-577-0292.

Trivia Time!!

Benedict Arnold betrayed the country on September 21, 1780. Did you know he was a West Point

Grad and his picture is turned around and faces the wall?

Nathan Hale was hanged on September 22, 1776.

The last game played at Ebbets Field was played on September 24, 1957.

On the same date in 1991, Dr Seuss died. He was my Primary Care Physician.

Iva Toguri D'Aquino died on September 26, 2006 at 90 years of age.

Keep the troops in your prayers, take a Vet to lunch and God Bless.

Lots on the calendar this time!

Our next regular post meeting will be the 3rd Sunday in October, 11am at American Turners, The Turner Club.

The next meeting of the Bronx County American Legion will be the 2nd Tuesday of October at Post 19, Morris Park Civic Assn., Bronxdale Ave. All legionnaires are welcome.

On October 3rd, 4th and 5th, there will be the Annual (Amazing !) Pumpkin Sale at the Hawkins Post 156, on City Is Ave in their parking lot. Other fun Fall stuff too, please spread the word and let's get everything sold out!

October 26th, there will be a special 11 am Mass and breakfast for veterans at St. Benedict, Otis and Bruckner Blvd. But you must RSVP to TPDPI@aol.com.

November 1st at 12 noon, there will be a new Veterans Day Parade at Crotona Ave. More on that later, let's support them too.

On November 9th at 12 noon sharp, we will have

civic center

our 30th Anniversary Throggs Neck Veterans Day Parade down E. Tremont Ave, starting as usual at Lafayette Ave. Let's please have a BIG showing for this landmark year.

The much awaited Gen. Colin Powell (a Bronx kid) mural will be dedicated by the Allerton Ave Association. The exact address and time, next time.

PUBLIC NOTICE: On November 15th, Saturday, The American Legion Department of NY, will be sponsoring a Town Hall Meeting at Sam Young Post 620, Erickson Pl, "behind" the Tremont East Diner by Lehman H.S. The guests will be personnel from the VA Hospital system who have, I believe, a lot to answer to. Be respectful, be prepared, be there! Exact time soon. Also, on the 17th & 18th, The American Legion will be present as Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation experts for two days of fact finding and inspection at Kingsbridge VA. Why is the north east system pretty good, how can they do better?

Thanks yacht club commodores and John & Judy Lanci for our 9/28 Veterans Appreciation Boat Ride. Starts 10:30 am - breakfast, nice boat ride, snacks, lunch, drinks later.

A great day for us and the Lanci's sincerely thank the Blue Gavel Past Commodores for their hospitality and generosity. Please call 917-549-2261 and reserve.

Until Next Time: Another neighborhood young man named Dexter has succumbed to PTSD and has taken his own life in the worst of all despair.

We salute this hero Marine and dedicate our efforts to help mitigate this modern veteran's epidemic. If you or someone you know shows signs of PTSD or despair please remember the Veterans Hotline at 1800-273-8255 - press #1.

BY CHRYS NAPOLITANO

Mark your calendars: we are planning a "Wellness Day" at the Locust Point Civic Association on Sunday, November 2. The event is being coordinated by Patty Haney, our Yoga instructor along with Norreen, another local certified yoga instructor.

I am along for the ride; I will be providing refreshments which will include a cooking demo (of course, I will be promoting the CSA). More details to follow, but just from the preliminary discussions, it will be a terrific event.

As I write this, the seasons are changing from summer to fall. Despite the flurry of activity I see noted in the pages of my datebook, I am still amazed at how the season passed me by.

Despite my best intentions, the garden starts out with such order and then before you know it there is a sea of yellow blossoms from the wild arugula that's taken over the stone path through the tomatoes. I should just whack it back but I love the way my dogs get covered in the yellow blossoms when I let them out in the backyard in the morning. And so I have learned to live another summer with the wildness, content in the knowledge that while some would consider it weeds, it's all edible.

We ended up with 8 cantaloupes, 2 normal sized and the rest small but still delicious.

I spent the last week processing the pears from the Sister's Servants of Mary and from our pear tree, as well as the rest of the tomatoes from our yard.

The CSA had a huge crop of tomatillos the week before I gave the sisters what had to be a ten pound bag of them, so when we had another huge bag leftover this past week, I brought them home and made a huge batch of Salsa Verde. My fridge and freezer are now filled with jars of chutneys, pre-

food for thought

serves, pickles and sauces. Bags of frozen peppers, frozen slices of fried eggplant and greens are also in there, all ready to help with meal planning over the winter, when the CSA is over.

It is a lot of work, but I enjoy it and the benefits are many. For example, my adult siblings and cousins loved receiving jars of various preserved items in their Christmas Grab Bags.

One of my cousins remarked that getting food was a terrific new tradition that he hoped we'd continue.

This year, I created a few new items and look forward to staying out of the malls shopping for gifts this holiday season (my nieces and nephews are all of the age now where they just want cash in an envelop).

Having all these jars of various delights in my fridge has made planning meals in the winter so much easier, not to mention less trips to the supermarket.

Of course, all this processing makes for lots of scraps and I was making a deposit into the big brown organics composting bin every day.

Despite my best efforts, which include the small compostable bags inserted into the counter-top container and a large compostable bag in the big brown bin, things still get messy while they await the weekly collection.

And so before I got involved in peeling and cutting up the 18 pounds of pears I had, I chanced across an article on making your own vinegar from fruit scraps. Sounded like an interesting project; if it works out I will let you know.

Right now it's fermenting in a large glass jar in a bathtub in our basement. The only jar I had that was big enough to hold the quantity of skins and cores I had has a spigot at the bottom. I thought it would be helpful when filtering the liquid from the solids after the fermentation process is over, but I didn't just want to put it on the floor in my pantry in case the spigot burst. We'll see.

The resulting vinegar will not be the type we use for pickling; it won't have the acidity level. It will be good for salad dressings and as a digestive.

Another project I'm planning for the winter is to make a duck breast prosciutto again. We did it 2012 and it was delicious. We also made a pork jowl bacon that was a big hit. It's been kind of funny doing some of the research and reading blogs from people that are doing these things in rural Iowa or Kentucky and here I am in the Bronx trying to make my own vinegar.

Even funnier was when literally two hours after I set up the vinegar I got a post from Joe Oddo about "How to Make Vinegar at Home with Apple Scraps"! Too late, Joe, I got it started already!

It's this kind of experimentation that makes the art of cooking always interesting. When people tell me that they don't like to cook, my suspicion is that they are not trying new things.

I imagine that if cooking is opening a box or a can, it can't be very stimulating.

But when you are challenging yourself with a new technique or ingredient, when you make food out of something that could have been thrown away, or from a part of the animal that you would never have considered eating before, it can be very rewarding.

So wish me luck on this experiment and hope to see you on November 2nd!

SUMMONS AND COMPLAINT YOU ARE IN DANGER OF LOSING YOUR HOME. IF YOU FAIL TO RESPOND TO THE SUMMONS AND COMPLAINT IN THIS FORECLOSURE ACTION, YOU MAY LOSE YOUR HOME. PLEASE READ THE SUMMONS AND COMPLAINT CAREFULLY. YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY CONTACT AN ATTORNEY OR YOUR LOCAL LEGAL AID OFFICE TO OBTAIN ADVICE ON HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF. SOURCES OF INFORMATION AND ASSISTANCE The state encourages you to become informed about your options in foreclosure. In addition to seeking assistance from an attorney or legal aid office, there are government agencies and non-profit organizations that you may contact for information about possible options, including trying to work with your lender during this process. To locate an entity near you, you may call the toll-free helpline maintained by the New York State Department of Financial Services at 1-877-BANK-NYS (1-877-226-5697) or the Foreclosure Relief Hotline 1-800-269-0990 or visit the department's website at WWW.DFS.NY.GOV. FORECLOSURE RESCUE SCAMS Be careful of people who approach you with offers to "save" your home. There are individuals who watch for notices of foreclosure actions in order to unfairly profit from a homeowner's distress. You should be extremely careful about any such promises and any suggestions that you pay them a fee or sign over your deed. State law requires anyone offering such services for profit to enter into a contract which fully describes the services they will perform and fees they will charge, and which prohibits them from taking any money from you until they have completed all such promised services. §1303 NOTICE NOTICE YOU ARE IN DANGER OF LOSING YOUR HOME If you do not respond to this summons and complaint by serving a copy of the answer on the attorney for the mortgage company who has filed this foreclosure proceeding against you and filing the answer with the court, a default judgment may be entered and you can lose your home. Speak to an attorney or go to the court where your case is pending for further information on how to answer the

summons and protect your property. Sending a payment to your mortgage company will not stop this foreclosure action. YOU MUST RESPOND BY SERVING A COPY OF THE ANSWER ON THE ATTORNEY FOR THE PLAINTIFF (MORTGAGE COMPANY) AND FILING THE ANSWER WITH THE COURT. NOTICE YOU ARE IN DANGER OF LOSING YOUR HOME

If you do not respond to this summons and complaint by serving a copy of the answer on the attorney for the mortgage company who filed this foreclosure proceeding against you and filing the answer with the court, a default judgment may be entered and you can lose your home.

Speak to an attorney or go to the court where your case is pending for further information on how to answer the summons and protect your property.

Sending a payment to your mortgage company will not stop this foreclosure action.

YOU MUST RESPOND BY SERVING A COPY OF THE ANSWER ON THE ATTORNEY FOR THE PLAINTIFF (MORTGAGE COMPANY) AND FILING THE ANSWER WITH THE COURT.

The following notice is intended only for those defendants who are owners of the premises sought to be foreclosed or who are liable upon the debt for which the mortgage stands as security.

YOU ARE HEREBY PUT ON NOTICE THAT WE ARE ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT, AND ANY INFORMATION OBTAINED WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE.

The present amount of the debt: $ 342,847.50 consisting of principal balance of $339,799.68 plus interest of $402.16, escrow/impound shortages or credits of $0.00, late charges of $0.00; MIP/PMI charges of $125.66; Servicing Fee of $30.00; Broker's Price Opinion, inspection and miscellaneous charges of $1,015.00; attorney fee $1,200.00 and title search $275.00. Because of interest and other charges that may vary from day to day, the amount due on the day you pay may be greater. Hence, if you pay the amount shown above, an adjustment may be necessary after we receive the check, in which event we will inform you.

The name of the creditor to whom the debt is owed: JAMES B NUTTER & COMPANY.

Unless you dispute the validity of the debt, or any portion thereof, within thirty (30) days after receipt hereof, the debt will be assumed to be valid by the herein debt collector.

If you notify the herein debt collector in writing within thirty (30) days after your receipt hereof that the debt, or any portion thereof, is disputed, we will obtain verification of the debt or a copy of any judgment against you representing the debt and a copy of such verification or judgment will be mailed to you by the herein debt collector.

Upon your written request within 30 days after receipt of this notice, the herein debt collector will provide you with the name and address of the original creditor if different from the current creditor.

Note: Your time to respond to the summons and complaint differs from your time to dispute the validity of the debt or to request the name and address of the original creditor. Although you have as few as 20 days to respond to the summons and complaint, depending on the manner of service, you still have 30 days from receipt of this summons to dispute the validity of the debt and to request the name and address of the original creditor.

TO THE DEFENDANTS: The Plaintiff makes no personal claim against you in this action.

TO THE DEFENDANTS: If you have obtained an order of discharge from the Bankruptcy court, which includes this debt, and you have not reaffirmed your liability for this debt, this law firm is not alleging that you have any personal liability for this debt and does not seek a money judgment against you. Even if a discharge has been obtained, this lawsuit to foreclose the mortgage will continue and we will seek a judgment authorizing the sale of the mortgaged premises.

Bronx Park East Community Association news

BY RAPHAEL SCHWEIZER
AND KENNY AGOSTO
B-PECA Membership

Bronx Park East Community Association "B-PECA" is a grassroots organization of Pelham Parkway and Allerton residents committed to improving and invigorating our community, which comprises the Pelham Parkway North, Bronx Park East and Allerton neighborhoods of Bronx Community Board 11.

These neighborhoods include Parkside Houses, P.S. 96, M.S. 135, Columbus High School campus, P.S. 76, the Allerton Coops, the Olinville high-rises and other blocks within the borders of Bronx Park East at the west, Adele Avenue at the north, Williamsbridge Road at the east, and Pelham Parkway North at the south.

As most community groups, we are reliant on small donations from individuals to fund our day-to-day operations, which include printing costs, refreshments for events, and other expenses.

Thus, we have yearly membership dues for those who want to go the extra yard in supporting our organization.

If you'd like to become a dues-paying member of B-PECA (which also enables you to vote in our Board member elections), it is only $20 for a full year. With that $20, you receive a red and black "Team B-PECA" t-shirt, and home delivery of this newspaper for a full year to your place of residence.

We are ordering our shirts in the coming week, so if you'd like a shirt, call or text (347) 654-7044, email bxparkeast@gmail.com, or mail a check/money order to: Bronx Park East Community Association, 620 Reiss Place #2C, Bronx, NY 10467. You can also arrange for a pickup of the membership dues by calling the number above. Be sure to act fast if you'd like a shirt!

Halloween Block Party!

On Saturday, October 25th, join B-PECA on Olinville Avenue & Thwaites Place for our FOURTH block party of the year!

Taking place on the weekend before Halloween, our 3rd Annual Halloween event will once again contain bobbing for apples and loads of free pumpkins for kids to paint, carve and take home.

But this year, we have some new activities, including Light Saber choreography lessons with NY Jedi, where kids and adults will be able to swing their Star Wars light saber like a real Jedi; Halloween poems, songs and games with Harlem-based poet Bob McNeil; as well as a live music performance by Swing Jazz group, "Double Down", featuring Tenor Saxophonist and older brother of B-PECA's Raphael, Mr. Kyle Schweizer.

We're still raising funds to be able to pay for this FREE community event, so if you have it in your heart to contribute, or would like to become a sponsor listed on the 11 x 17 event flyer, contact (347) 654-7044 or mail checks/money orders to the address above.

Mark it on your calendar! Saturday, October 25th from 11am-6pm.

As always, volunteers are needed to help maintain order, assist with pumpkin painting/carving, and help out with other duties. So, if you can lend a hand that would be great.

All B-PECA Block Parties are totally FREE and open to ALL community members and their families to attend and enjoy.

Because that's just what we do...

In Memoriam

This week in memoriam, we would like to acknowledge the loss of a true Bronx hero and friend of the community; Alfredo Thiebald, 79. The founder and "King of Coquito Helado Delicioso" was a humble humanitarian who shared his success in business with the people in the community he loved. Don Alfredo will be sorely missed.

Longtime Disability Advocate, Terence Moakley, 69, who persistently fought for the rights of wheelchair users and other differently-abled people to have equal access to trains, buses, and taxi cabs died from Myeloid Leukemia. Brian Jacome, 25, Son of State Senator Diaz's longtime chief of staff Helen Jacome was killed in a tragic construction accident.

Local Bronxite, Xavier Rodriguez, 20 and passenger were killed in a horrific crash in his Mini Cooper on the Bronx River Parkway. Frank Torre, 82, older brother and inspiration to legendary NY Yankee Manager Joe Torre died of Pancreatic Cancer. Marvin Barnes, 62 Enigmatic Pro College/NBA Basketball Player. Jazz Fusion Musician, Joe Sample, 78. Versatile Jazz Arranger, Gerald Wilson, 96. Academy Award Winners: Ruby Dee, 91 and Polly Bergen, 84.

Emmy Award Winning Queen of Late Night Comedy, the one and only Joan Rivers, 81 died from complications from throat surgery. Joan Rivers broke the glass ceiling as the first woman to host a nationally televised late night talk show. Americans civilians: James Foley, Steven Sotloff, and British citizen David Haines all assassinated in cold blood, by evil extremist terrorists ISIS (Islamic States of Iraq and Syria).

We remember the loss of 2,996 innocent human beings who were murdered in America 13 years ago on Tuesday, September 11, 2001. May their eternal spirits Rest In Peace...

Next B-PECA Meeting

Turnout is everything. In life, if you want to progress, first "ya gotta show up". See you on Thursday, October 9th at 6:30pm for our next Bronx Park East Community Association Community "B-PECA" Meeting, at 2401 White Plains Road, the "Center-Light" building. Where YOUR voice matters.

We meet on the 2nd Thursday of each month, so mark it on your calendar, either your paper calendar or the one on your smart phone.

As always, please keep Team B-PECA immediately informed of any concerns, questions or suggestions you have to improve and maintain our community by texting or calling 347-

654-7044 anytime, emailing bxparkeast@gmail.com, or joining our facebook group: www.facebook.com/groups/bxparkeast

Keep us informed 24/7. Anytime, and Anywhere.

Good Luck, C.I.M.S.!

And finally, best of luck to this year's graduating class of the Collegiate Institute of Math & Science on the Christopher Columbus High School Campus: Darius, Kristen, Ryan, Ervin, Naya, Tiana, Yuan-yuan, Donovan, Venesha, Tahira and the many other talented young adults who continue the legacy of COLUMBUS Campus.

That's right, Columbus High School Campus is still alive and kicking.

Going from High School to College is a significant move in life, C.I.M.S. brothers and sisters, so may you all go into this year with fierce, positive energy to take you through, and most of all, to make it an enjoyable, rewarding and memorable 2014-15 school year.

You shall to do great things this Senior year!

You are the Future, but just as important, you are the Enduring Gift of the Present! Love. Hope. Humility.

Until next time, fellow reader, this is Team B-PECA wishing YOU the best.

BY FRANK V. VERNUCCIO, JR.

The recent bid by New York "Progressives" to extend voting rights to those who are not American citizens is their latest attempt to unlawfully and drastically alter the voting landscape in the United States.

Throughout the U.S., Eric Holder's Department of Justice has ignored clear cases of voting fraud and overlooked conditions that lead to further abuse of the ballot box. A former civil rights attorney with the Department of Justice, J. Christian Adams, has stated that cases of voter intimidation against McCain voters in the 2008 election in Philadelphia were the worst on record. Utterly improbable voting results such as instances in the 2012 campaign when, in several districts, there were more ballots cast than registered voters and all of those votes were for the President's reelection, have been noted.

The efforts by the White House and like-minded elected officials across the nation extend far beyond the passive tolerance of cheating on behalf of candidates they support. They include active opposition to measures to avoid fraudulent voting and the intimidation of state governments acting in good faith to preserve honesty in elections.

However, Attorney General Holder has received bad news in Wisconsin and North Carolina.

The Judicial Watch organization has opposed the drive by the Justice Department to overturn state efforts to require voters to show photo ID at the polls. The group also has also sought to bring to light the role illegal immigration plays in expanding the numbers of unlawful voters.

Community Action civic Association

Holder contends that photo ID requirements discourage participation by black voters. But research by Judicial Watch indicates that after the implementation of photo ID in North Carolina "black turnout increased in 2014 by every meaningful measure. Black share of the total electorate increased. The percentage of black registered voters voting increased. Using Census Bureau estimates, "[there was] an increase in turnout among blacks of voting age. Finally, while turnout increased across the board in May 2014, and while white turnout increased by 13.7%, black turnout increased much faster - by an astonishing 29.5%."

In a Wisconsin case, the United States Court of Appeals for the 7th Circuit has allowed enforcement of that states' photo ID law in the upcoming November election.

Opponents of requirements that voters display photo ID have uniformly failed to prove that the practice in anyway detrimentally affects minority voters.

According to Ballotpedia, "All states must meet the minimum requirement set by the Help America Vote Act of 2002 (HAVA) which requires photo ID for those who register by mail and did not provide identification. However, some states have stricter requirements set by state law. 20 states require photo ID, and 14 states have non-photo requirements. In general, valid forms of photo ID often include a valid driver's license, military ID, a state identification card, a United States passport, or student identification. If valid ID is not provided, most states issue a provisional ballot. Provisional ballots are usually counted once a voter's eligibility is confirmed. Some states require that confirmation be provided within a particular time frame following the election."

One unusual result of efforts by New York progressives to extend citizenship rights to noncitizens would be that illegal aliens would have greater rights in certain areas, reduced college tuition at state universities being a prime example, than American citizens who live on the border of New York in New Jersey and Connecticut.

Leticia James Warns
Consumers About
Classified Ads
Toll numbers may be a direct line to trouble.

Classified ads are intended to help people by facilitating communication and advertising available services; however, some of the hotlines & service numbers in classifieds actually hurt the people who rely on them by cheating them of their hard-earned dollars.
"Most newspapers print a disclaimer in their classified ad section to warn readers about numbers that are a direct line to trouble. Any number starting with 900, 540, 595 or 871 charges a fee beyond a local call. In some instances, ads initially advertise calls to a local number, but then direct callers to a second number starting with one of the paid exchanges. "Consumers must also question
the legitimacy of vague
classifieds because they too could be a scam. Before responding to an ad, consumers should verify the source of all information & always be wary about sending money or signing a contract with an unknown party."

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids for Bulkhead / Esplanade Reconstruction at Roberto Clemente State Park, Bronx County, New York will be received by the New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation (OPRHP), New York City Region at the Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. State Office Building at 163 West 125th Street – 17th Floor, New York, NY 10027 until 11:00 a.m. local time – November 13, 2014, when they will be publicly opened and read. Each bid must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the Instructions to Bidders and must be accompanied by Bid Security in the form of a certified check, bank check, or bid bond in the amount of:

General Construction Contract (D004552): $1,000,000.00
(One million and 00/100 dollars)

This project involves one lump sum contract for the Reconstruction of the Bulkhead and Esplanade at Roberto Clemente State Park. Contractor is responsible for reviewing all the drawings and specifications to obtain a complete understanding of all work scope. The work includes all work indicated on the project documents, including but not limited to all work described in the technical specifications. An overview of this contract is provided below:

The New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation (OPRHP) is proposing improvements within an approximately 16-acre portion of Roberto Clemente State Park, located on the eastern shore of the Harlem River just north of West Tremont Avenue and west of the Major Deegan Expressway in the Bronx, New York.

Funding for this Contract is being provided by a Community Development Block Grant – Disaster Recovery (CDBG-DR) program funds. Work of this contract includes the following:

- Replacement of the existing sheet pile bulkhead that is in critical condition (approximately 2044 l.f. in length) – new work includes, placement of steel sheetpiles, soil anchors, pile cap and searail.
- Reconstruction of the adjacent esplanade (approximately 2044 in length at an average width of 40 feet) – new work includes, pavement, site furnishings, lighting, site utilities and landscaping.
- Construction of a tidal/intertidal habitat area (approximately 20,000 s.f. in size) – new work in this area includes, railing, steel decking, pavement, site furnishings, lighting, site utilities, placement of soil and an extensive array of landscape plantings.

Contractors should closely read all the technical specification sections, particularly Specification Section 011000: Summary of Work – as this section specifies the approximate contract start date and other specific project milestone. The Summary of Work also notes dates on which work will not be permitted over the duration of the contract. Liquidated damages in the amount noted will be assessed for each day of delay of the contract:

General Contract: $7,000.00 (Seven thousand and 00/100 dollars)

Contractors should closely read Specification Section 015000: Temporary Facilities and Controls and closely review all drawings that address phasing and construction access.
Roberto Clemente State Park will remain in operation during construction.

OPRHP is committed to providing Minority and Women Owned Business (MWBE) equal opportunity to participate in business enterprises on this project. The Office has established the following goals for the participation of minority and women-owned business enterprises on this project. Reports showing the participation of various business enterprises as subcontractors and suppliers on the contract will be required.

Goals for this project have been established as noted below:

Minority-owned enterprises: 10%
Women-owned enterprises: 10%

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Labor and Material Bond in the statutory form of public bonds required by Sections 136 and 137 of the State Finance Law, each for 100% of the amount of the Contract.

The completion date for this project is 730 days after agreement has been approved by the NYS Comptroller's Office.

On September 29, 2014, the Bidding and Contract Documents may be examined free of charge and obtained in person or by mail from Yuriy Khodosh at the New York City Regional Office located at the Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. State Office Building - 163 West 125th Street
– 17th Floor, New York, NY 10027 for a non-refundable fee of $49.00 (per set) plus a shipping and handling charge of $8.50 (if mailing is required). Make checks payable to the New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation.

In accordance with State Finance Law, Section 139j, the following agency staff has been designated as contacts for this contract:

Stephen McCorkell, RLA (518-474-1352) (Stephen.McCorkell@Parks.NY.Gov)

Please note that contacting any other agency staff regarding this contract may be a violation of State Finance Law, Section 139j, resulting in a determination of contractor non-responsibility.

There will be a pre-bid meeting on October 16, 2014, at 11:00 a.m., at the Project Site within Roberto Clemente State Park (located at the intersection of West Tremont Avenue and Matthewson Road – Bronx, NY).

All RFI's are due by 1:00 pm on October 23, 2014 (RFI's received after this date will not be processed).

WEEK 3

Texas (2-1) 17

Another Last Time

When Derek Jeter ends his Yankee Stadium time, Bob Shepard's voice will exit with him.

Week 3

Giants (1-2) 30

Texas (2-1) 17

As I watched this game I wondered who these guys, who beat Texas, wearing Giants' gear were.

The game's start had me shaking my head and saying, "Oh no, not again," but it wasn't that way at all. Aside from an early fumble and a botched long snap, the team played with spirit, confidence, and a sense of enjoyment.

Eli seemed to warm to the new offense and was 21/28, 234 yds. He was hitting his quick short passes and utilizing his run game. NO INTs. Cruz caught 5/107- 61yds RAC. Jennings had 176yds on 34 rushes.

Bears (2-1) 27

Jets (1-2) 19

The Jets couldn't overcome those two horrible INT's and 4 fumbles; yet they had 414 total net yds.- 316 gross in the air. The defense gave up 257 less than 50 on the ground.

RAMS MISTAKES LEAD TO DEFEAT

BY JOSEPH STASZEWSKI

Critical mistakes, poor tackling and an inconsistent passing game kept Fordham Prep from overcoming an early deficit against Christ the King.

The Rams were down a score before its defense could get on the field. Kareem Davis returned the opening kick off 70-yard for a touchdown. Fordham eventually got even in the third quarter, only to see Christ the King pull away and hand it a 21-7 defeat in a CHSFL game at Jack Coffey Field last Saturday night.

"We shot ourselves in the foot a number of times," Fordham Prep head coach Pete Gorynski said.

"You are not going to be beat anybody when you make the number of mistakes that we made."

The Rams looking primed to tie the score in the second quarter on a second-and-goal from the CK 1-yard line. Quarterback Michael Wagner ended up being intercepted in the end zone by Davis to help keep the score 7-0 at the half. Freshman quarterback Matt Valeece, playing in his first varsity game, led Fordham down the field on that drive by completing four straight passes, three to Will Randle. Sophomore Joshua Johnson added 45 yards on 10 carries.

Valeece finally helped Fordham (1-1, 0-1) knot things up at 7-7 when he connected with Wagner on fourth down for a 21-yard touchdown pass. Christ the King answered with a 68-yard scoring strike that saw Jamen Williams slip through tackles on his way to the end zone. It was still an impressive debut for Valeece with regular backup quarterback Anthony Caserta away at a college visit. Valeece went 10-for-16 passing for 113 yards.

"He's very passionate about the game and it reflects in his play," Gorynski said. "He played much older than what he is."

His team appeared to be getting one more chance to rally late, but a ruffing the kicker penalty gave the Royals the ball back at the Fordham Prep 46-yard line. CK (2-1, 1-0) would later score as quarterback Davis Navas (8 of 9, 188 yards) capped a big day with another touchdown pass.

Gorynski wasn't completely certain the penalty call was a good one as many of his player felt it was the Royals center getting pushed back that hit the punter. The coach said he would have to go back and watch the film.

"Maybe it was, maybe it wasn't," Gorynski said.

It was however just one of the mistakes that took Fordham Prep out of position to claim a victory.

Strong second half powers Spellman past rival Preston

BY JOSEPH STASZEWSKI

Danea Dookhie knows good things can happen even if the situation doesn't go as planned.

The Cardinal Spellman senior forward made a 35-yard run to goal, out running the first defender and weaving past two more on her way to the 18-yard box. Dookhie's shot, intended for the left post, was deflected off Preston defender and found the back of the net near the right corner for what proved to be the winner in the 52nd minute.

"I had to run by like six players," Dookhie said. "I just got to get to the goal. I just got to get there. It felt amazing. We really needed to get in front and get a lead.

It was enough to help earn Spellman a 3-1 victory over visiting Preston in CHSAA Bronx/Westchester girls' soccer on Sept. 19. The game was the first of three meetings this season between the rivals. Sophomore Jacinta Addo'-Badu scored her second goal of the game in the 72nd minutes to provide the final mar-minute. The advantage was short lived for the Panthers (2-3-0, 0-1-0) as Addo'-Badu chipped the ball over the keeper to knots this up at 1-1 in the 22nd minute.

Her second score was even prettier. Addo'-Badu sent a right-footed shot at a tough across the box and in the far corner. She debated which foot use with her left injured. Addo'-Badu finally let it fly, not wanting to hear it from Brown.

"I'd rather take the shot then take the shouts and it went in," Jacinta Addo'-Badu said.

Preston coach Jack Giannini, whose team has seven four-year players, felt his group didn't match Spellman's intensity and physicality. He hopes it's a lesson they learn moving forward this season.

"I'm trying to tell tem you got to be tough now," Jack Giannini said. "You got to be tough, just as hard as them. Now you get tougher and tougher. I'm glad in a way this happened so they can learn more."

gin.

Pilots coach Mel Brown felt his team played more like itself in the second half, where it dominated possession and kept Preston off the board. Spellman lost 1-0 to defending division champion Kennedy Catholic earlier this season.

"They didn't play as well as we practiced they day before," Brown said of the first half against Preston. "I think we played a little better in the second half, but the expectations is more than what they gave me in the first half."

Spellman (1-3-1, 1-1-0) was put on its heels early when Preston star Madeline Giannini ran onto a through ball, fought off two defenders and scored to make it 1-0 in the 11th

Legendary St. Ray's coach Patnosh dies at age 76

BY JOSEPH STASZEWSKI

St Raymond lost more than a former athletic director and legendary baseball coach with the passing on Ron Patnosh last week.

To the high school's community the 76-year-old Patnosh was part of its soul and its face in many roles for the last 48 years. He died last on the morning of Sept. 19, after suffering what appeared to be a heart attack at his home, according to Ravens baseball coach Marc DeLuca. Patnosh suffered from vertigo and smoked during his life, but he appeared in normal health recently and began playing golf again, according to friends. Patnosh retired in 2010, leaving behind an unmatched legacy at the school.

"He is St. Raymond's," DeLuca said. "They always joke around that he came with the building."

Patnosh, who played baseball St. Francis Prep baseball with former Yankees manager Joe Torre growing up, was one of the CHSAA's most successful and longest tenured coaches. He started the Raven's baseball team in 1964 and won 1,080 games, second only to Archbishop Molloy's Jack Curran in the CHSAA. St. Raymond claimed city championships in 1980 and 1989 and nine division titles in his tenure.

Friend and McClancy baseball coach Nick Melito said coaches and people like Patnosh gave the league legitimacy. His colleagues know what losing someone like him means.

"It's a huge void," said Bob Fletcher, one of Patnosh's former player and the Kennedy Catholic baseball coach. "You don't have people like this any more that do this for the love of the game and to help people. It was always about the people and the kids. He is going to be sorely missed."

St. Raymond High School

Patnosh's coaching style was described as old school, but filled with compassion. He would immediately correct a mistake, but find away after the game with his sense of humor to leave a player feeling good about themselves.

"We knew as hard as he was, he loved us," former player and St. Ray's Athletic Director Ben Aguirre said.

Patnosh dedicated his life to helping kids in any way he could. He even coached youth basketball into his 60s. He was a history teacher at St. Raymond and the history club moderator. Patnosh, who had very little family, was also its athletic director and an assistant principal. The people associated with the school, his players and its students became family to him.

"It was always about his kids," Melito said. "Not players, it was his kids."

He made sure leave that family in capable hands when he retired. Patnosh handpicked and mentored both DeLuca and Aguirre. He was the one who told Aguirre back in 2002 he should come back to St. Ray's and helped him get a job. Patnosh welcomed DeLuca, who played at Mount St. Michael, with open arms. He stayed around the program after his retirement and was in the dugout when the Ravens won the city title in 2013.

"It's like learning to paint from Picasso," DeLuca said "I had the best. I couldn't have asked for a better teacher."

Patnosh's wake and funeral were both held in the in the St. Raymond gymnasium, the place and the school he home called for nearly five decades

"I cant imagine the school without him," Fletcher said. "It will keep going on, but I just can't personally invasion the school with out him."

Fieldston spoils Poly's homecoming with sweep

BY STEPEHN ZITOLO

The Fieldston girl's volleyball team crashed the party on Poly Prep's annual homecoming day.

The Eagles didn't make scoring easy for Poly Prep as each and every Fieldston player was diving all over the court making dig after dig to ensure every point took all of Poly Prep's might. Led by sophomore Gillian Gore, the reigning Bronx Times All-Bronx player of the year, Fieldston swept the Poly, 25-19, 25-16, and 25-15, in Ivy League play last Saturday in Bay Ridge.

"We kept returning their best shots," Eagles coach Colin Henry said. "We put them back on their heels and made them think what else do we have to do to try and get a point. That was the tone we set."

Fieldston is off to a 5-0 start in league play as it looks to defend its division title and tries to return to the NYSAISAA state title game. The Eagles knew it wasn't going to be easy facing Blue Devils on their homecoming day. Fieldston however looked like they were a team on a mission as it worked to avenge it only division defeat last season.

"We did play them last season and lost to them in the same situation," junior Grace Brickner said. "We realized today that we were all here to win. We never got complacent or thought the game was over until the final point was scored."

The games seemed to be all Fieldston all afternoon long as they would jump out to leads right away in all three sets and they didn't look back as Poly Prep never got closer than three or four points throughout the day. Henry was very proud of his team's performance on Saturday,

"The defense and the serving was great today," he said. "We know we have a tough serving team and a lot of people don't understand that if you have a tough team that serves well, you can take on anybody. We showed that today by getting two or three points off of most of our serves."

The Eagles will have their own shot to defend their home court on their homecoming day versus the Blue Devils on Oct. 18. They know this victory can't make them complacent coming into the match.

"We can't assume we're going to win," Brickner said. "We have to not worry about what Poly Prep is doing and just worry about what we can do. We were able to beat them today and we know that we have the skills to beat them again if we play the way we're capable of."

Warriors kick off 63rd season

BY THE CHIEF

WEEK #1

Saturday September 20th kicked off the Bronx Warrior Football Clubs 63rd season.

Chief Jerry Demers wishes to thank all the volunteer coaches and board members for helping him run this organization and he strongly encourages everyone to support our sponsors by patronizing their services.

Our sponsors are: Miller Tires, Pruzzo's Supermarket, Mister Softee, Bronx Design Group, Schuyler Hill Funeral Home, Barino's Market, Dugout Sports, O'Connor Carpet, Middletown Animal Clinic, Parkview Sports, McNulty Funeral Home, Jimmy Ryans, North Bronx Paint & Hardware, Ridgewood Savings Bank, Ralph Giordano's Funeral Home.

Head Coach Gary Phillips said "he was proud of the effort from his undermanned team who were missing some players due to illness, he added we will strive to improve every week and learn from our mistakes".

Velocity Track Club season opener

BY WINSTON DINKINS

Velocity Track Club New York Pride!!! Our student athletes showed their pride on Sunday, September 21, 2014 at our 1st cross country track meet of the season. We competed in the Metropolis Cross Country Invitational at the Van Courtlandt Park. They had races from 800 meters to the 2.5 mile run. We had 23 student-athletes compete in this meet. Trophies were given to the top 3 athletes in their event / age group & gender. Medals were given to 4th – 10th place. The awards were hard to earn due to the competition and the number of athletes competing. However, that did not stop our children from earning an award.

The meet started with the 800 meter race for the 8 years & under boys. Matthiaius Love-Anderson & Christopher Ruiz won our 1st medals. Christopher

Ruiz joined the team this season. Then the girls 9 & 10 years old 800 meter race. Allyson Wright and Lauren Murrell, whom also joined the team this season, earned medals. These two young ladies are hard workers and I expect to mention their names a lot. In the 1.5 miles run for 8 & under girls, Tiara Jackson just misses winning a trophy, by finishing 4th to earn a medal. In the 1.8 mile run for 9 & 10 age boys, Donte Lindo ran his personal best to earn a trophy with a 3rd place finish. Jordan Ingram earned a medal and Julian Caldwell, who ran cross country this year for the 1st time ran his personal best. During the 13 & 14 years old girls 2.5 mile run, Giovanna Tolbert strain for quad muscle running down hill 4/5 after completing the race and still was able to earn a 4th place medal. In the 13 & 14 years old girls 1 mile race, Zaria Wright fall during the race and bruised her knee. She got up and completed the race to earn a 4th place medal, Velocity Pride!! Darius Gordon medaled in the 15 & 16 boys 2.5 mile run. In the boys 11 & 12 years old 1 mile run, Adrian Swift-Henry ran his personal best to win a trophy and Trevon James medaled. In the 13 & 14 years old boys 1 mile run, Raseam Phillip medaled. Velocity won 2 trophies and 11 medals, Great Job, VELOCITY PRIDE!!

Pipe Dreams: Giant talent problem; Blocking the plate; Maddon's mayhem members- be looked upon as beacons of behavior? Yeah, they should.

When you see all of that different team gear being worn, you could realize that those standing in the front of team photos might very well be seen to be examples of how to act and what to do. These people might not like this sort of attention but the big bucks they make creates that attention.

Additionally, if it comes out that NFL-Commissioner Roger Goodell wasn't completely truthful about when he saw the Rice video (that includes someone else playing it while Goodell looked on) along with a subsequent cover-up, his job might hinge on that honesty.

Giant Talent Problem

Jonette Howard (ESPN.com) wrote, "It's easy to say the Giants could've been this bad under departed offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride, too. But that's forgetting they were, in fact, very bad. Remember? The 2013 Giants ranked 28th out of 32 teams in total yards, their rushing attack ranked 29th and they were tied for 28th in points per game (18.4, or just .3 ppg. better than then-rookie Geno Smith's Jets).

Long ago that became a tiresome refrain when it comes to Eli, who has thrown a staggering 85 interceptions since 2010. No other active quarterback had more than 75.

Blocking The Plate

Bruce Jenkins (SF Chronicle) wrote: "The rules makers went too far. Runners are so terrified of contact now, they don't seem to realize that they can initiate a collision if the catcher has the ball and gives them no clear lane. Gripped by indecision, they often leave themselves vulnerable to injury with awkward slides. "And for us," Detroit outfielder Torii Hunter told USA Today, "you're causing bad throws because we don't want to put it right on the plate. The whole thing is stupid."

Rule 7.13 was changed this week, but only to allow for common sense: If a runner is going to be out by 15 feet, the catcher's positioning is now irrelevant. But what about Wednesday night's play in the Rays-Yankees game, when Stephen Drew was bearing down on the plate, the throw arrived directly over his shoulder from the left-field line, and catcher Ryan Hanigan had no choice but set up in front of the plate? Denied a crucial path, Drew was out trying a skewered slide inside the foul line.

"Next time?" New York manager Joe Girardi said. "I'm telling him to bowl (the catcher) over."

Maddon's Mayhem

It seems the Tampa manager, Joe Maddon, has made throwing at Yankee hitters part of his game plan. He feels that the Yankees won't follow their plan of waiting for good pitches if they're mad. Andrew Marchand (ESPN.com) wrote, "After a loss that saw three New York Yankees ejected and the benches clear, a "pissed" Joe Girardi accused the Tampa Bay Rays of pitching inside incompetently.

What made Girardi ultimately erupt was when Derek Jeter was hit by inexperienced reliever Steven Goltz in the eighth inning.

It marked the fifth time a Yankee had been hit by a Ray in the past four games, while the Yankees have not hit any Rays. Jeter has been hit twice, and Chase Headley ended up in the hospital after being hit on the chin (Maddon said that was a graze).

"If you are going to pitch inside, learn how to pitch inside," Girardi said. "You pitch down in the zone. You don't pitch up. This is not practice. This is guys' livelihood."

"I agree with everything he said, but to pitch inside correctly or incorrectly, that's not the point," Maddon said. "It is called baseball; sometimes hitters get hit. But I understand their frustration entirely. We are not going to apologize for it because it is part of the game. But I do get why he was upset."

Perhaps Maddon would appreciate the baseball play where the hitter drops a bunt down the 1st base line and runs over the covering pitcher who would be blocking the runners path.

Perry's Patter

Dwight Perry (Seattle Times) sent this: "Parting shot

So what's up with the new Levi's Stadium needing two turf implants already?

"Scientists can put a lush head of hair on Marv Albert," wrote Scott Ostler of the San Francisco Chronicle, "but they can't put a decent rug on the 49ers' field? Go figure."

RJ Currie of Sports-Deke.com, on banished Browns receiver Josh Gordon working as an auto salesman: "Warning to car buyers: Questions about tires are fine, but don't ask him about the suspension."

ABC's Jimmy Kimmel, on Mike Tyson stopping by Toronto city hall to visit embattled mayor Rob Ford: "Mike Tyson and Rob Ford — what could possibly go right?

Brotherly Love?

Philadelphia pitcher Jonathan Papelbon made a lewd gesture to the home crowd, earned himself a seven-game suspension.

Or more precisely, two games for the gesture and five for mimicking Phillies fans."

Dwight quoted this headline from Fark.com, "Floyd Mayweather Jr. earns $32million for staying out of trouble for 36 minutes."

No Math Please

Dwight quoted Jim Bouton, "How often do you see a baseball team penalized for too many men on the field?

Van Nest transitional housing rally facility maintains a no-tolerance policy of illegal activities.

"They earn the right to be there every day by sticking to our strict honor code," he said.

He said he feels the facility, with his involvement and security cameras, can improve the condition of the block they're on.

"I thought it would be something beneficial," he said "The neighborhood looks like it needs help."

But Ferrara and fellow VNNA member and Taylor Avenue resident Sharlene Jackson Mendez resent the idea that the neighborhood should be grateful for the facility.

The community is vulnerable, said Ferrara, and a facility isn't a good fit for the neighborhood that's trying to improve. Jackson said the area has already shouldered their fair share of facilities.

"If program after program moves in, it won't be a neighborhood any more, it'll be a transient population," said Jackson.

They're also not convinced that Metro Safe Housing can keep out potentially dangerous residents.

"I don't believe they know enough about the people they're accepting," said Mendez.

Ferrara pointed to the company's short track record, which makes her worried that they haven't had to deal with significant problems as they arise, and said she does not trust the company.

"I'm not a wolf in sheep's clothing," said Aldehari.

Jackson said she plans to continue fighting the arrival of the facility.

"The people in the community are not going to accept it," said Ferrara. "He needs to go somewhere else."

Ardehali said that while he's not inclined to give up easily, the plans for the Taylor Avenue facility are not a done deal.

"It's still up in the air," he said.

Community mourns passing of Coco Delicioso Helado's Alfredo Thiebad body jammed under the gate.

On Friday afternoon,

many of Thiebaud's friends and employees stood outside the factory, creating an impromptu memorial in front of the gate with a photo of him surrounded by flowers and lighted candles, while decorating the factory with images of tropical fruit.

This terrible accident left many Bronxites deeply saddened and emotionally distraught, including Bronx Borough President Ruben Diaz Jr.

"Mr. Thiebaud always gave back to the community, and was among our borough's greatest humanitarians. He was always quick to help a community group or a school with their event, donating money, time or product to numerous worthy causes across the city," said Diaz Jr., who recalls buying ices from Alfredo when he was a kid living in the south Bronx, calling them "coquitos."

"He was a great man and a great friend who was always there for us and for the Bronx, and this tragic accident has deprived us of one of the best."

Thiebaud was born in Honduras in 1939. By the 1960s he had immigrated to the Bronx with a vision of a business that recreated a dessert that was popular in Latin America and the Caribbean.

He made his home and his business all in one, starting his coconut flavored-ice business "Delicioso Coco Helado" in 1967, in the kitchen of his south Bronx apartment. He would eventually added more flavors such as cherry and mango.

As Delicioso Coco Helado expanded, Alfredo employed workers and supplied vendors with pushcarts that he built himself in his factory basement. These employees became his family, as well as the Bronx community and the organizations that he supported.

Despite running a growing flavored ice business, Thiebaud still made time to visit his mother and the rest of his family in Honduras every Mother's Day.

The wake for Thiebaud was on Monday, September 22 at the Schuyler Hill Funeral Home, which was attended by Honduras President Juan Orlando Hernandez, among others. His interment was the following day.
