Columbus Parade gearing up

BY DAVID CRUZ

It's that time of year for everyone to be Italian for the day!

The annual Bronx Columbus Day Parade is set to step off at noon on Sunday, October 7, with thousands expected to line Morris Park Avenue.

But before throngs cheer on their Italian neighbors, organizers are throwing a fundraiser fea-

Electeds, Board 10 pushing for return of 45th Pct. narcotics unit

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

The fight to restore narcotics cops to the 45th Precinct is getting some star power behind it.

Council Speaker and mayoral contender Christine Quinn joined Councilman Jimmy Vacca at the September meeting of Community Board 10 to announce both were asking the borough commander to restore the unit.

"It is a lovely neighborhood. We want to make sure that we don't lose resources and that things backslide in the neighborhood," she told board members at their Sept. 20 meeting at Providence Rest.

The narcotics module - a team of investigators focusing on drug-related crime - was moved out of the 45th Precinct in the fall of 2011.

Since then, according to community leaders, the precinct has had to make do with sharing a module with the more drug-saddled, high-crime 43rd Precinct in neighboring Soundview.

Throggs Neck merchants nervous over new malls

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

Throggs Neck merchants are keeping a wary eye on a planned mall anchored by a Target coming nearby.

The plans call for a new shopping center anchored by a Target at a development called the Throggs Neck Shopping Center in Ferry Point, at Brush and Lafayette avenues.

Scheduled for completion in summer 2013, the mall will be minutes by car from the central Throggs Neck shopping strip on East Tremont Avenue.

With 285,000 square feet of shopping space, it also will have 650 street-level parking spaces, as opposed to the East Tremont stretch of mostly metered parking.

"One of the reasons we are forming a Business Improvement District is to uplift our chances of surviving - so that people will come to us instead of the malls that are opening all around us," said Throggs Neck Merchants Association president Steven Kaufman.

Other malls planned Besides the Target mall, plans are on the drawing board for an outlet-style mall at the current location of the Whitestone Cinemas, and a new indoor mall anchored by Macys at Bay Plaza next to Co-op City.

All would offer potential competition for the mom and pop store merchants on the strip.

Kaufman said most affected locally would be hardware stores, merchants that sell items for house and home, as well as clothing retailers.

Community Board 10 is making sure that truck traffic during construction at the Target mall has a limited affect on the Ferry Point and Throggs Neck communities, said district manager Kenneth Kearns.

Among the board's suggestions were that no garbage from the construction site be directed near Wenner Place in Ferry Point, said Kearns.

"We also suggested that they hose down the trucks at the construction site before they leave so they aren't dragging dirt through the neighborhood," he said, as well as making sure each truck have a tarp covering any contents its hauling.

According to the developers, the Target will take up more than 169,000 square feet of space, with additional stores - including TJ Maxx - taking up the remaining 130,000 square feet of space.

City Island community fights assisted living facility

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

Community leaders on City Island are weighing legal action against a developer who plans a 190-unit assisted living and senior housing facility in the quiet, island community.

They charge the four-story, 190-unit violates local zoning law.

The project has been turned down by Community Board 10 and the Department of City Planning, but the developer plans to push an appeal with the city's Board of Standards and Appeals.

The proposed facility would rise on a vacant lot at Schofield Street and City Island Avenue, and is being pushed by the Yonkers-based Italian Hospital Society.

A BSA hearing date has not been set, but a lawyer for the developer is scheduled to address CB 10's November housing and zoning committee meeting, said Barbara Dolensek, vice-president of the City Island Civic Association.

"The structure being proposed is way too big and out of the tenor and the tone of City Island," said City Island Civic Association president Bill Stanton.

He said he believes having such a large building standing could turn into a problem if the state health department ultimately rejects a license for the assisted living and housing facility for people over age 55.

Fundraising for a lawyer

At a community meeting at Grace Episcopal Church on Friday, September 14, Stanton called on neighbors to commit $100 per household to hire a lawyer to represent the community's interests before the BSA.

Stanton believes the building as proposed in preliminary plans would lower property values on City Island.

The building would sit in a manufacturing zone as part of special zoning for the island. The special zoning, however, limits the height of buildings to 35 feet. A BSA waiver might apply even if the building is not used for assisted living, said Dolensek.

The main concern is that there is no other building as big on City Island Avenue, and that the plan as proposed is out of character with the surrounding community, said Dolensek.

"We obviously have to raise money (for an attorney)," said Dolensek. "We are going to do an island-wide campaign to raise money to pay for an expert land use lawyer who is familiar with the BSA."

The Italian Hospital Society was formerly the fundraising arm of the now closed Cabrini Hospital in Manhattan, said CB 10 district manager Kenneth Kearns. It has a long and venerable history assisting Italian immigrants, he said.

The society is currently led by Doctor Domenico Mignone, who did not respond to repeated calls for comment.

CB 10 rejects alternate side parking

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

Community Board 10's municipal services committee curbed a proposal calling for Saturday alternate side parking on Bruckner Boulevard that would in effect deter illegal overnight truck parking.

It rejected the plan which would cover the boulevard along Pelham Bay Park, from Wilkinson Avenue to Middletown Road, at its Tuesday, Sept. 11 meeting.

Besides cleaner streets, the proposal would have discouraged overnight parking by 18-wheelers by imposing no parking regs between 8 a.m. and 11 a.m.

It was tabled after representatives of the Spencer Estate Civic Association and Country Club Civic Association expressed concerns.

"They were concerned about losing parking spaces," said Board 10 district manager Kenneth Kearns. "I really don't know if they would consider it again under a separate set of circumstances."

While the streets are cleaned routinely, mechanical brooms are often blocked from curblines because 18-wheeler trucks routinely park there overnight in violation of city laws, said Kearns.

According to meeting minutes, residents expressed concern that the alternate side parking could force motorists to park on the densely populated other side of Bruckner Boulevard, hinder the passage of fire trucks, force owners to get up on Saturday morning to move their cars. Visitors to Pelham Bay Park would also have to give up parking spaces temporarily in an area already short of parking.

Also, the proposal itself was unnecessary because Board 10 is the second cleanest board in the borough.

Board 10 chairman John Marano said that the alternate side plan could be helpful in a number of ways, including keeping the area clean for the large number of summertime park visitors, and discouraging overnight truck parking - a perennial issue at that location.

"There are reasons why we believe it could work," said Marano. "I just feel that maybe it was not explained correctly, or misunderstood."

13 Wolfpack gang members caged

BY DAVID CRUZ

An east Bronx wolfpack found itself caged last week.

FBI agents swooped in at several local homes to arrest members of a low-level Albanian gang dubbed the "Wolfpack" for gun running and trafficking drugs in the borough.

Thirteen gang members were charged, with several arrested at their homes in Country Club, Allerton and Morris Park during the early morning of September 18 by the FBI's Balkan Organized Task Force, which specializes in investigating criminals with eastern European ties.

Federal prosecutors charged that for years the pack sold cocaine, Oxycodone and marijuana, with a Bronx base of operations.

The pack also used violence to muscle out rival drug dealers, according to Mary Galligan, the local FBI's acting director-in-charge.

"This organization is aptly named," she said. "This type of alleged activity posed a threat to the safety of everyone."

But law enforcement

posed a "triple threat" against the group, said NYPD Commissioner Ray Kelly. "The Wolfpack learned the hard way."

Charged with overseeing the drug network was Christopher "Dok40" Nrecaj, 29, arrested August 10 along with his brother David.

The pair ran into trouble for brawling outside a Long Island nightclub in 2006.

Christopher Nrecaj, a bulky Albanian man with the word "loyalty" etched on his chest, would often flaunt his lavish lifestyle on Twitter with pictures of Louis Vuitton clothing and a number of watches.

Others rounded up included Frankie "Freak" Frokaj, Driton "Tone Capone" Haxhijaj, and Jason "J-Hood" Villalona.

Several members hail from Albania, authorities said, with a mob element established in various parts of the Bronx.

If convicted, the men face up to 40 years in federal prison.

Bumbling quick change bandit nabbed by 49th Precinct

BY DAVID CRUZ

A would-be bank bandit/quick-change artist gave cops a merry chase through local streets and backyards before nailing him.

Cops said he walked into a Chase Bank branch on Gun Hill Road about 9 a.m. on Tuesday, September 18, with a note.

"Give me the money or I'm gonna shoot," read the note.

But the suspect, identified as Christian Aguirre, 20, apparently chickened out and fled from the branch at 1650 East Gun Hill Road.

Forty Ninth Precinct Sgt. Freddy Pineda and other cops responded to the radio dispatch.

After running south on Kingsland Avenue, the thief tried to turn chameleon, changing clothes, but he was spotted by one female officer and ran, fleeing through backyards along Tiemann Avenue.

Pineda executed a grid search, going house to house on Tiemann Avenue.

Playing peek-a-boo

"We were gonna be there the whole day until we got him," said Pineda, until he finally had a hunch and turned up a tarp covering a backyard patio furniture set.

Voila! One bandit colared. "That was a good hiding spot," admitted Pineda. "I was so lucky to catch him."

The suspect gave up without a struggle, said Pineda, a former defensive tackle at his Miami college - "A reason why the guy didn't resist," noted precinct Captain Lorenzo "Andy" Johnson.

He was especially grateful for Pineda's drive in catching the thief, later charged with attempted robbery, trespass and menacing.

Pineda later said the chase certainly broke the boredom.

"Ninety percent of the time we have boring stuff like paperwork," he said. "But ten percent of the time this is what I live for."

"If you're chasing a bank robber and you're not psyched," added Johnson, "then you're in the wrong profession."

Seeing forest for trees in Pelham Bay Park

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

The murder contract worked.

Work crews recently cleared invasive, tree-killing non-native plants invading almost 15 new acres of forest along City Island Road and Rodman's Neck in Pelham Bay Park.

The work was done as part of two Parks Department contracts, said Pelham Bay Park administrator Marianne Anderson.

Work crews cleared out tree-killing underbrush from an area between Range Road and City Island Road in Rodman's Neck, and on a 700-foot-long and 100-foot-wide swath of land straddling the north side of City Island Road, said Anderson.

"There were trees there that were toppled during the 1992 Nor'easter that were leaning against an old chain link fence, and it was atrocious," she said, adding that all of the wood from the tree removal will remain to decompose and add nutrient value to the soil.

Scores of leveled trees remain in an area that is now much clearer looking than it was before the massive pruning and plant removal project.

Ultimate goal

One of the ultimate goals, she said, is the reforestation of the area.

Eight acres of forest at Rodman's Neck near the ball fields there had invasive plants removed in 2011, along with another project that same year that provided for an ecological restoration of native plant species in and around Turtle Cove, an inlet of water from the Hutchinson River.

Funding was provided by MillionTreesNYC, said Anderson.

If all goes according to plan, she said, park stewards who are part of the MillionTreesNYC program will start the replanting next year to reforest the area with various kinds of oaks and hickories, sweetgums and black birch.

"Without (this work) you would have toppled trees and vines covering everything, and that is just not quality habitat," said Anderson.

The Parks Department's Natural Resources Group may soon look into the feasibility of removing similar invasive vines behind Turtle Cove Driving Range, said Anderson.

City Islander Barbara

The removal of dead and decaying trees and invasive weeds and plants left the roadside along a bike and walking path off City Island Road looking clearer.

Dolensek said that the look of the roadway leading to the popular summer destination had improved.

"It's great," she said. "They took down all of the dead trees back a certain number of yards from the roadway."

People come before profits.

As large corporations continue to overtake local businesses, there are funeral homes that steadfastly remain family-owned and independent.

They don't have a staff of 1,000, but they know everyone in their hometown.

Instead of joining a huge corporation, they join local civic groups.

They don't have to answer to stockholders, but they do donate to the local Girl Scout troop.

And you'll know who to turn to when you need them.

When it comes to funeral homes in your town, bigger doesn't mean better.

BOROBEAT

by Bob
"KAPPY"
Kappstatter

The Liberty Democratic Club, never that friendly with Assemblywoman Naomi Rivera, still made nice, working for her in the primary - all for naught.

Now the big question is whether they and winner Mark Gjonaj will make nice.

Some rather nasty behavior by a certain club member toward voters (and reporters) during the campaign didn't exactly endear the club to Gjonaj's camp - enough, we hear, to now have Mark's circle thinking about forming their own club.

The Liberty Dems met Saturday, Sept. 22 to decide where they stood with Mark, with some grumbling by said unnamed club official. But they could be in for a rude surprise.

Mark's already put together a strong campaign organization that could easily morph into a Democratic club unto itself.

That would likely include running its own slate of challengers for district leaders and other posts in the 80th Assembly District next time around.

Current district leader Kenny Agosto said he and female co-leader Miriam Schwartz have reached out to congratulate Mark and invite him for a friendly sitdown. No return call yet. And we shall see....

Meanwhile, the Liberty Dems are holding their 5th annual awards dinner Oct. 11 at Maestro's Caterers. Among the honorees, BP Ruben Diaz Jr.; Angela Doyle, exec VP of Local 1199, and Joe Kelleher, prez and CEO of the Hutch Metro Center. Proceeds to go a several worthy Bronx groups. Call Joe McManus at (718) 644-1841.

And sign of the times, we guess, vegetarian, kosher AND Halal meals available.

LOSER IN THE WINNERS CIRCLE

State Committeewoman

Diane Cerino, who broke away from the Liberty Dems to work for Mark, lost in the primary to the club's candidate, Maria Gonzalez.

"Win or lose, the important thing was working for Mark to win," she told us. "I'm not going away!"

DEMS CONVENE

As political parties do across the city shortly after primaries, Bronx Dems gathered last Thursday, Sept. 20 at the Eastwood Manor to hold party leadership elections and a judicial convention to nominate judicial candidates for the Nov. 6 general election.

If either process wandered off tight scripts, you coulda fooled us.

Surprise, surprise, Party Boss Carl Heastie was overwhelmingly reelected.

BENCH MARKS

Meanwhile, judicial delegates from each assembly district voted their nomination for various judicial candidates to be on the Nov. 6 general election Democratic line.

They would be: Supreme Court Justice Donna Mills, who actually sits in Manhattan, for another 14-year-term; Linet Rosado to fill the Civil Court seat being vacated by Acting Supreme Court Justice Fernando Tapia, running to drop the "Acting" part; and Eddie McShan for Civil Court from the west Bronx.

And don't mess with Rosado if she wins. We hear she runs kids' karate classes.

UP THE LADDER

While Gjonaj (Joe-nigh) now stands to be the first elected voice for the city's Albanian-American community, Parkchester's growing Bangladesh community gained its first official political voice at the Democratic Party's local convention, with Mirza Mamun Rashid named to replace the late Roselyn Johnson as a judicial delegate from the 87th Assembly District.

Roselyn's name remained on the ballot in the Sept. 13 Primary. Assembly primary winner Luis Sepulveda said a newly formed political club for the 87th will named after Roselyn.

CATCHING UP

We've been so loaded with politics for the past few weeks, that some other stuff we've been meaning to post just got pushed aside. So, here we go:

KEY CHARGES

State Senator Ruben Diaz Sr. blasted D.A. Rob Johnson for charging his police sergeant daughter with a felony after she got arrested for keying her boyfriend's car and sending some rather threatening "woman scorned" text messages. But a D.A.'s spokesman said she was only charged with two misdemeanors - aggravated harassment and criminal mischief.

BUFF

Jeez Louise! Isn't it enough Councilman Jimmy Vacca has the energy of a chipmunk on speed? Now he's boasting on his Facebook page that he recently did 404 push-ups in 40 minutes and 345 sit-ups in 30 minutes. "Exciting if I must say so my myself," braggeth Jimmy. "Disgusting!" sayeth gymphobic us....

COP CORNER

Pot luck: Are Bronx cops playing a numbers game?

Despite PC Ray Kelly ordering cops to stop tricking folks into emptying their pockets, making "in plain sight" marijuana merit a misdemeanor collar, we hear Bronx Criminal Court is getting log-jammed with pot cases worthy of dismissal.

Two down: It's a two-year anniversary for Four-Five Detective Squad boss, Lt. Jim Hanvey. Hope the bosses don't hear it, but we're told he's a real sweetheart of a boss.

BRONX BIRTHDAYS

Sept. 25 - Assemblyman and Bronx Democratic Party Chairman Carl Heastie. And as we asked Carl on his Facebook, would your hair be gray if you had any?

Keep Walmart out

Dear editor,

It is really mind-boggling, and quite frankly, a disgraceful insult to the intelligence of all of us Bronxites that some individuals feel that they can still make us think that Walmart will bring something positive to this borough.

Apparently, their rationale has little regard for small and medium-sized businesses, who will suffer tremendously and in many cases go out of business due to Walmart's significant price advantage, an advantage that has been achieved in a lot of ways on the backs of their under-paid and under-compensated employees.

And similarly, don't these individuals feel that multi-billion dollar retail companies should have any sense of ethical responsibility? Why then would they welcome in a company that makes billions of dollars in profits and then "creates" mainly minimum wage jobs without health benefits, which further worsen our City and State's budget problems by forcing these employees to sign-up for Medicaid, which you and I pay for?

Any concerned Bronxite who reads this paper is a well-intentioned Bronxite. But these individuals seem to have lost their way by arriving at these misguided conclusions. Very misguided.

As co-founder of a CB 11 community organization whose main pillar is to support and partner with local Bronx small businesses in any project that we spend money on, quite frankly I find it nauseating that this intellectually-shallow and common sense-free mindset still exists.

Walmart: Not Now, Not Ever.

And similarly: Home Dep-No. Too many people submit to uttering the words "Home Depot" when giving advice or thoughts on where to go for hardware and home repair needs. No no no...

Shop at Eljam Lumber in Westchester Square, Van Nest True Value Hardware on Morris Park Avenue, Better Gardens Florist on East Tremont Avenue, Jampol Paint, Star-gate Hardware, the list goes on. There are so many options out there!

When you spend money, it's like voting.

The Pro-big box store mindset ignores all of the long tenures and dedicated employees that these small-business have accumulated throughout their decades of doing business in the Bronx.

This unpredictable economy is bad enough for small businesses. Do we really want to burden them with this damaging pro-Walmart mindset?

The Bronx doesn't need anymore high-promise, low-wage big box stores. We need to keep what we have.

Shop Small-Business and Keep Walmart out.

We need Walmart

Dear editor,

Hey when I read Mr. Pelosi's last letter to the editor, I thought Larry Penner and I had an ally. Then I read on and remembered my friend Pelosi is like that California lady in the House. You know the one who said "let's pass Obama Care and read it later".

What can you expect from a "proud member of the UFT?" Mr. Pelosi is concerned about Walmart's hidden cost to society. What a crock!! Of the 1.7 million in the city now living in poverty, 30.4% live in the Bronx. That's over 1/2 million Bronxites. But hey, they should sacrifice the ability to save a few dollars at Walmart because of the negative impact on society says Mr. Pelosi. Say they save $10 a week. You do the math. That's only $5million (just a few bucks).

Consider the facts:

1. Walmart's wages are no less than any of the other big box stores.

2. Walmart is able to offer low prices by keeping labor costs down (no unions). That's competition Mr. Pelosi, unlike what the UFT espouses.

3. Competition is what America was built on.

Bronx unemployment is the highest in NYS - 12.8%. Almost 70,000 Bronxites are unemployed. Suppose one were able to get a job at a new Walmart at $10 per hour for 35 hours per week. That's $18,200 a year. That should get some above the poverty level. But then again, think of the "negative impact on society."

"Elected officials lining up with labor unions to block the opening of Walmart within the five boroughs "should have trouble looking at themselves in a mirror;" Mayor Bloomberg declared this week. Unfortunately they don't!

The only way for Bronxites to get back to work and realize the benefits of competition is to vote out those who make up the "Walmart Wall." How long will we tolerate the tyranny of the public sector unions and their crony representatives? A tyranny that results in high unemployment, high prices, the UFT producing students who have minimal math, science and reading capability, politicians that need the taxpayer to pay for their ethical lapses (think Vito Lopez).

Marring walls to mourn

Dear editor,

When did mourning a loved one become a community affair?

Everybody has lost someone young and very dear, but a growing faction of our neighbors find it necessary to plaster their grief on building walls, highway memorials that never go away and full page displays in local publications. Enough already. Grief is personal.

War heroes are memorialized; great presidents; firemen and cops who perished for the greater good. Their contributions to society is the reason we gaze upon their images with reverence.

I look upon these painted murals and wonder, what exactly did that person do for the neighborhood? Is being a great son or daughter enough to get your face painted on the side of a building? I don't think so.

I am sure there are those that mourn for your loss, but we as a society should not be subjected to this display on the walls of our cities because of some need of yours to show us all how much worse you feel for your loss than we do for ours.

Do your neighbors a favor and preserve your dignity as a result. Your loss is no greater than mine and just because you put it up on a wall doesn't make it a neighborhood tragedy.

Take down these showy, dramatic displays of grief and go to the cemetery like everybody else.

Kevin John Carroll

Montefiore agreement with Empire

Montefiore Medical Center and Empire BlueCross BlueShield announced that they have signed an Accountable Care Organization (ACO) agreement under which advanced care management services will be offered to Empire's Fully Insured members in Bronx and Westchester counties as well as to Montefiore's ASO plan administered by Empire.

This is the first ACO agreement Empire has entered into in the New York region, having chosen to partner with Montefiore due to its experience in improving the health of patients, improving the healthcare experience and reducing expenditures.

The goal of the new agreement is to help the health plan members stay healthy by getting the right care in the right place and at the right time, avoiding unnecessary emergency room visits and preventable hospital admissions. Central to Empire's ACO development is its Patient Centered Primary Care strategy that requires the development of individualized care plans for patients with chronic or complex conditions and continuous monitoring of their health according to tested guidelines for care and services. Montefiore's more than 200 specially-trained care managers can provide health education, care transition assistance and various other services to all members, in addition to intensive case management. More than 200,000 residents of the Bronx and lower Westchester are currently covered by agreements between their health insurers and Montefiore Care Management, similar to the Empire agreement.

"Montefiore's partnership with Empire shows our shared commitment to improving the health and well-being of the Bronx and Westchester and recognizes our forward-thinking approach to health care delivery. For more than 16 years, Montefiore has been building our expertise in innovative care management and co-ordination and creating a value-based seamless system of care," said Steven Safyer, MD, President and CEO of Montefiore Medical Center. "Through this durable arrangement with Empire, we advance our goal of changing health care from a fragmented misaligned system of care to one where patient experience, outcomes and quality come first."

As part of the new agreement Empire members who are already seeing primary care and specialty physicians affiliated with Montefiore will be eligible for care coordination services to help manage chronic illnesses such as diabetes, coronary artery disease, congestive heart failure, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease and asthma - conditions that are prevalent in the region. Additionally, all members will have access to wellness and preventative care and will receive educational support to encourage and empower them to positively manage their own health.

"Empire is pleased to partner with Montefiore in this new program that rewards quality outcomes that result in better patient care," said Mark Wagar, President and CEO of Empire BlueCross Blue Shield. In the end, our members win as we create better access to primary care physicians that will help the member navigate through the complex health care system, making the member active participants in their health care through shared decision making that will result in better health outcomes.

Bronx House SAT classes

Bronx House will be offering S.A.T preparation classes for high school juniors and seniors beginning October 3.

Many colleges require results from a standardize test, such as the SAT as part of a student's application for admission.

The course is designed to familiarize students with the most up-to-date test formats. The skills taught in the class will also help prepare students who plan to take the ACT, another standardized test option.

Bronx House's qualified mathematics instructors will cover the concepts tested by math sections. These sections include numbers and operations, algebra and functions, geometry and measurement, data analysis, statistics and probability.

In addition, verbal instructors will teach strategies for approaching sentence completion and passage based reading sections that comprise the critical reading sections of these tests.

Grammar rules and strategies for success on the writing sections of the tests will also be covered.

The classes will be held at Bronx House on Wednesday, October 3 from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. and will be continued on every Saturday to follow for the remainder of the eight sessions.

Men's health seminar at St. Barnabas Hospital

A men's health seminar at St. Barnabas Hospital will focus on erectile dysfunction.

It is estimated that as many as 30 million men in the United States have Erectile Dysfunction (or E.D.), which is defined as the inability to achieve or sustain an erection suitable for sexual intercourse.

While the public is now familiar with treatments as Viagra, Cialis, and Levitra, due to the bombardment of such advertising, the truth is that as many as one-third of men who are impotent do not respond to medication.

To provide answers to these men and their partners, urologists Dr. Sapan Polepalle and Dr. Sherwin Zargaroff will hold a free public seminar at St. Barnabas Hospital on Thursday, October 4 at 6 p.m. The event will be held at the Braker Boardroom on the St. Barnabas Hospital campus located at Third Avenue between 180th and 183rd Street.

"Problems with impotence may stem from any one or more of the following reasons - use of certain medications, chronic illness, fatigue, psychological reasons, or various lifestyle issues," said Polepalle. "This seminar will examine why ED happens, and then take a look at the current options and treatments available, including penile implants, pills and injections."

According to Polepalle, recent studies have found a high degree of satisfaction among men who have undergone penile implants because there are no side effects, involve no follow-up visits, and require no waiting time to get an erection. At the seminar, an ED patient will relate his own experiences in discussing his problem, treatment and outcome.

Polepalle holds M.D. and M.B.A. degrees from Northwestern University Medical School and its Kellogg School of Management, respectively. He trained at the University of California San Diego Medical Center and is certified by the American Board of Urology.

Zargaroff graduated from the Loyola University Stritch School of Medicine in Chicago and did his training in general surgery and urology at Mount Sinai School of Medicine. He is specially fellowship trained in penile prosthetic surgery.

There is limited seating for the seminar, which will be offered in both English and Spanish. To RSVP, call 347-295-2600.

St. Barnabas holds Dinner with a Doctor

Smile and the world smiles with you.

But how do you keep your smile? How do you protect the health of your teeth and those of your children? How do you alleviate any dental pain you may be suffering? Or any fears you may have about seeing a dentist?

These are the kinds of questions that will be answered at "We Want to Keep You Smiling," the next event in St. Barnabas Hospital's popular "Dinner with a Doctor" series on Tuesday, October 9 and Thursday, October 11 (in Spanish).

Dr. Dara Rosenberg and Dr. Ivan Vazquez will offer important information on such topics as proper nutrition, children's dental issues, dental implants, laser dentistry, options for dentures, advances in painless dentistry, and alleviating oral pain as a result of TMJ and other problems.

Rosenberg has been Director of Dentistry at St. Barnabas Hospital since 1988. An Associate Professor at the Columbia University College of Dental Medicine, she holds a dental degree from New York University's College of Dentistry, Master's degrees in Public Health and Environmental Health Sciences from UCLA and Hunter College, respectively, and a BS from SUNY Stony Brook, and did her residency training at Long Island Jewish-Hillside Medical Center. She publishes and lectures frequently.

Vazquez has worked at St. Barnabas Hospital for many years, as well as at the Neighborhood Family Care Center in the Bronx.

He received certification in pediatric dentistry at Interfaith Medical Center in Brooklyn, and has a dental degree from the NYU College of Dentistry and a B.S. from the University of Puerto Rico.

"We encourage members of the communities we serve to take advantage of our Dinner with a Doctor series," said Len Walsh, Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer at St. Barnabas Hospital. "It gives them a chance to meet some of the area's best doctors and clinicians, and get answers to questions they may have on various health and medical topics. This upcoming event on how to keep or enhance your smile should appeal to parents of young children as well as seniors."

The event, which is open to the public at no cost, will be held in the Braker Building boardroom on the St. Barnabas Hospital campus (Third Avenue and 182nd Street). It is limited to 60 people, with free parking available by entering the hospital at 183rd Street and Third Avenue. To RSVP, call Diana Loubriel at 718-960-9295.

Community Cinema screens documentary

Community Cinema, a national documentary screening series sponsored locally by Triple Front Syndicate, Inc and the Independent Television Service (ITVS), will host a screening of Half The Sky: Turning Oppression into Opportunity for Women Worldwide, based on Nicholas Kristof and Sheryl WuDunn's best-selling book, at Bronx Community College on Thursday, September 27th, at noon.

Six talented actress-advocates — Eva Mendes, Meg Ryan, Gabrielle Union, Diane Lane, America Ferreira, and Olivia Wilde — join Kristof as he travels to Asia and Africa to meet face-to-face with inspiring individuals working to bring about change and the women and girls who confront extreme gender inequality in their daily lives.

Women and girls around the globe face threats — trafficking, prostitution, violence, and discrimination — every day of their lives. As portrayed in Half the Sky: Turning Oppression into Opportunity for Women Worldwide, hope endures as fearless women and men are developing innovative ways to turn the tide.

The Community Cinema screening of Half the Sky will preview one of six stories featured in the mini-series. The screening focuses on economic empowerment, a crucial element in turning the tide against poverty, violence, and the oppression of women. When women have money of their own, they invest more than twice as much as men in their families, education, and the future. In Kenya, Olivia Wilde joins Kristof to see firsthand how women entrepreneurs are changing not only their lives but their communities. Ingrid Munro founded Jamii Bora, a microfinancing organization for women; one of Jamii Bora's greatest success stories is Jane Ngori, a former prostitute and single mother of four who is now running a dressmaking business. In Nairobi, they meet Rebecca Lolosoli, the founder of an all-women's village called Umoja, which was established as a haven from rape and violence and sustains itself by creating and selling traditional beaded wares.

"One of the best ways that we can deal with all of the abuses that are so troubling against women and girls is through economic empowerment," says Secretary of State Hillary Clinton. "Unleashing the economic potential of women is a win-win economic strategy."

Bronx actress makes home in Hollywood

BY KIRSTEN SANCHEZ

Lights, camera, action: A Bronx-born star is born, making a name for herself in Hollywood.

Growing up in the Pelham Gardens section of the Bronx, Nicole Zeoli knew by age 11 she wanted to see her name in lights.

After performing in the lead role of “Sandy” in P.S. 71’s production of “Grease,”

“Italian American Reconciliation” and “A Dreamer Examines His Pillow.”

Zeoli soon decided it was time to make her way to Hollywood.

“I literally went to LA for a week, came home and said ‘Ma, it’s now or never! I’m moving to LA!’” she said. “After she stopped crying, she eventually helped me with the big move.”

show,” she said. “Until this day it remains one my fondest working experiences. Working with Vin Diesel has taught me invaluable insight into this business I will treasure forever.”

Although Zeoli is in California, she still has very strong connections to the Bronx.

“I bring my Bronx background into everything I do

she was hooked.

“I guess you could say I was always a performer,” Zeoli said. “My cousins and I would put on ‘plays’ for my grandparents, and even from a very young age I knew this was something I wanted to do forever.”

“The real spark hit in my P.S. 71 6th grade production of ‘Grease. That will always stick out in my mind as the first time I knew acting was something more than just fun, it was something that I always wanted to be part of my life. Nothing made me feel like being on that stage did.”

Zeoli continued working on her craft through high school, but really focused on it while studying theatre at Bronxville Concordia College as well as New York Film Academy and Carnegie Hall.

After graduating, Zeoli began her theater career in small theaters in and around New York, including leading roles in productions of John Patrick Shanley’s

In the five years since, she has appeared on shows such as the TNT series “Trust Me” alongside Eric McCormack and Tom Kavanaugh, as well as on the Starz series “Gravity”.

In February, Zeoli appeared in the Valentine’s Day episode of “How I Met Your Mother” on CBS.

More recently, she wrapped production on the Fox original Netflix Series “The Ropes” written and directed by Vin Diesel, loosely based on his life as a New York club bouncer.

Although the producers decided to take a different route with the part she auditioned for, she was offered a different part.

“After a few rehearsal’s with Mr. Diesel and his production team, they were so impressed with my work ethic and what I brought to the character, he decided to write a completely new role in the script for me, making the character she created in rehearsal a larger and more integral part of the in this town, I’m so proud of it. Once I say I am from the Bronx, you immediately get ‘street cred’ out here,” she joked. “A lot of this town is about tenacity, integrity and loyalty. These are all things I’ve learned by growing up in the Bronx. Street smarts give you an extra edge out here. The roles I get tend to be tough, smart and edgy.”

Zeoli’s parents, Linda and Richard Zeoli, were long time concession stand operators at Orchard Beach, where she spent many summer working.

Zeoli said if she could do it all over again, she wouldn’t change a thing.

“You know, it’s funny, I really believe I am exactly where I am supposed to be at exactly the right time,” she said. “Sure, there is part of me that wishes I would have pursued this as a young child, but then I wouldn’t have had all the amazing experiences I had growing up the way I did in the Bronx.”

THE RIGHT CARE NOW

Our services are usually covered by Medicare, Medicaid and most insurers.

UNDERAGE DRINKING

Not a minor problem

SEE IT. HEAR IT. TALK ABOUT IT.

PARENTS DO MAKE A DIFFERENCE.

No parent wants to think of their child as one of the thousands of teens who drink—or about all the things that can happen when they do. Still, by the time they're in their senior year of high school, four out of five teens have consumed alcohol and adolescents who drink are likely to be heavy drinkers or binge drinkers.

Research shows that when parents communicate their expectations that their children abstain from alcohol, teens and pre teens are far less likely to drink.

PARENTS NEED TO COMMUNICATE TO YOUTHS THAT:

Underage drinking is against the law.

Using alcohol is risky and harmful to your child's health.

Longtime Realtors leader Greco steps down

BY PATRICK ROCCHIO

The chief executive officer of the Bronx-Manhattan Association of Realtors is stepping down after 30 years at its helm.

But expect the organization's programming and events to stay pretty much the same as the group seeks a replacement.

Nunzio Del Greco, CEO of the trade organization that represents realtors and provides educational training and programming, leaves the organization running smoothly, with a capable staff to run networking events and educational programs, said Richard Guarino, who began a two-year term as president of the board of governors on Saturday, September 1.

"I don't think we are going to feel much of a hiccup from Nunzio leaving, though he will be missed," said Guarino. "We will do what we have to do to fill Nunzio's shoes as quickly as possible."

Richard Guarino
President, Board of Governors

Since Del Greco was the CEO for so long, his staff is "well-groomed" and should be able to run the organization with the board of governors while a replacement is found.

"We are looking for someone with ties to the Bronx, and maybe to the real estate marketplace," said Guarino. "Whether they work for another

Kathy Zamechansky
President-elect

non-profit, a real estate office, or even in a political office, we are looking for someone who understands the Bronx, and is young and hungry to grow this organization."

Guarino is a co-founder and managing director of ERG Property Advisors, which specializes in investment properties. He leads a team of salespeople for Bronx properties.

Kathy Zamechansky was selected to a two-year term as president-elect, in a position similar to vice president, taking over whenever Guarino leaves office.

"It is with pride and enthusiasm that I prepare to lead this incredible organization," said Zamechansky, president of KZA Realty Group, "and I am especially humbled to be one of six women to have this opportunity."

The Bronx-Manhattan North Association of Realtors is the local chapter of the New York State and National Association of Realtors.

Its office is located in Morris Park at 1867 Williamsbridge Road. Its telephone number is (718) 892-3000 and its website is bmar.org.

First Year

Sometimes I tell myself, that you're not really gone.

I feel your tender touch and no longer feel alone.

I see us walking hand in hand like we use to do.

It's hard for me to accept...

That your life on earth is through.

There were so many dreams that we had not yet fulfilled.

All the hopes of a future that we were going to build.

All our friends and family have been so very kind,

They try hard to ease my broken heart

And my troubled mind.

But how can my heart be mended,

When it has broken in two?

Part of my heart is still on earth,

The other part left with you.

It is hard to see tomorrow,

When I can't accept today,

Because the "Love of my Life"

Has been taken away.

I will always miss you Sweetheart,

Time will not erase the pain,

All the raw emotions of losing you,

Words will never explain.

I will cling to the warm feelings

You brought into my life,

Maybe somehow it will ease my confusion

And emotional strife.

Someday we will rejoin in Heaven up above,

But while I'm still on earth,

I will cherish every memory of our precious love.

Somehow those precious memories

Will have to carry me through,

Until the time comes for us to walk hand in hand

For an eternity...together...me and you.

In Heaven

Love Always

Bronx Zoo awarded top honor for education

The Association of Zoos and Aquariums awarded its top honor for educational programming to the Bronx Zoo for the Online Teacher Academy that helps educators discover teaching methods while inspiring student learning and conservation action.

The zoo's education department was presented with the award at a ceremony at the 2012 Annual Conference in Phoenix, Arizona.

The award recognizes outstanding achievement in educational program design – judging programs on their ability to promote conservation knowledge, attitudes and behavior, show innovation, and measure success.

WCS created the Online Teacher Academy in 2007 with support from the Laura Niles Foundation.

The Online Teacher Academy introduces educators to life science content, teaching methods, and new technology while using resources like zoos and aquariums as serious tools for teaching science. The program helps teachers further develop their understanding of the living world and revitalize their love of nature and science.

“This web-based resource for teacher professional development has already made a tremendous difference in teaching educators about conservation in New York City, across the country, and around the globe,” said Don Lisowy, WCS director of education. “The project uses the power of animals and nature as vehicles to engage teachers and, by association, their students. We are hopeful that it will serve as a model for the development of future science education programs.”

Online Teacher Academy includes a suite of seven online graduate courses taught by WCS's education staff, WCS webinars featuring WCS's field conservation staff, and resources to support teaching and learning.

The zoo's education department serves more than 100,000 students and 2,400 teachers annually. It works across NYC to provide science, technology, engineering, and math education to under-served students and offers subsidized and free programs to thousands of students from all five boroughs each year.

The zoo is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, 5:30 p.m. weekends. Adult admission is $16.95, children (3-12 years old) $11.95, children under 3 are free, seniors (65+) are $14.95. Parking is $14 for cars and $16 for buses.

It is conveniently located off the Bronx River Parkway at Exit 6; by train via the #2 or #5 or by bus via the #9, #12, #19, #22, MetroNorth, or BxM11 Express Bus service from Manhattan that stops just outside the gate.

To plan a trip, visit bronxzoo.com or call 718-367-1010.

Mount St. Ursula grads donate

Two of Mount St. Ursula's bathrooms renovated, thanks to gracious alumnae

Two of Mount St. Ursula's have been completely remodeled, thanks to two alumnae, Adrienne Rolla, class of 1976, and Kerri Gould Reynolds, class of 1986.

With the help of Reynolds' husband Richard and his construction company, Plaza Construction as well as several others, work on the new bathrooms was completed over the summer.

The total cost for the remodeling would have been $50,000 for materials and labor if the school had to incur the cost.

The school will hold an open house on Sunday, October 28 from 12 to 3 p.m.

Parkchester South Condos to hold blood drive Sept. 28

Parkchester South Condominiums, in conjunction with New York Blood Center (NYBC), will sponsor a blood drive on September 28, from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at 1449 West Avenue in the Bronx.

The Labor Day holiday, back-to-school preparations, and busy schedules have all contributed to a lower than normal blood inventory. Parkchester South Condominiums hopes to reverse this trend by opening their doors to the community and inviting their neighbors to donate blood.

Each and every day there are patients who depend on the transfusion of red blood cells, platelets and plasma to stay alive. Last year, approximately 56,000 blood products were transfused to patients in the Bronx while the number of pints donated was approximately 15,000. Volunteer blood donors who take an hour to attend a blood drive or visit a donor center can help ensure that all patients receive the blood they need. Blood donors truly make a difference and save lives.

To donate blood or for information on how to organize a blood drive, please call 1-800-933-2566 or visit: www.nybloodcenter.org.

Small cars may be the future

Consumers have long operated under the presumption that “bigger is better,” which is often reflected in the size of the vehicles on the road. However, future mandates on fuel economy could significantly increase the number of compact cars being bought and sold, and big cars might get a run for their money.

In the past, bigger cars might have been the popular trend. Muscle cars of the 1960s, giant sedans of the '70s and even the pumped-up SUVs of modern day are all bigger vehicles. But with the advent of the fuel-efficient car and hybrid or electric models, many people could find themselves driving a compact car in the next few years.

According to U.S. federal requirements, automotive industry products must average 35.5 miles per gallon by 2016, and proposed regulations could increase that number to 62 mpg by 2025. What this means for auto makers and consumers alike is that small cars could grow increasingly popular.

Automakers are already beginning to invest heavily in smaller vehicles. Compact cars were popular and prominently featured attractions at auto shows throughout 2010 and into 2011.

Consumers who once leaned toward larger vehicles may now purchase compact cars thanks to escalating fuel costs and more eco-conscious consumerism. Compact hybrids have already become trendy among the celebrity set, and many fans may choose to emulate their favorite A-listers. The “green” movement has certainly changed consumer perception of small cars.

What's more, automakers are revamping features that normally caused people to shy away from compact cars. Interior space is being reconfigured to offer more headroom and legroom. Plus, automakers are packing compacts with innovative features and gadgets that make them appealing to an increasingly tech-savvy society.

Even people who are not fiscally or environmentally minded may lean toward the abundance of smaller cars at dealerships. That's because compact cars are affordable first cars or good options for singles and older couples looking to downsize. Young males may consider sporty, super-up coupes. With small cars, there certainly is a widespread market.

The hardest demographic to convince to switch to a smaller car will be the average family. Families with multiple children might feel compact cars don't provide the room needed to transport everyone. Automakers will no doubt address the needs of families in years to come.

BY FRANK V. VERNUCCIO, JR.

Americans have a long tradition of healthy disagreement on just about every issue. We don't expect our politicians or our news media to be perfect. There has always, however, been a general consensus that our key elected officials should be, at a minimum, hard working; that they should be reasonably honest with the public, and that they should put the national interest above their own careers. Similarly, while we acknowledge that journalists are human and have their own perspectives, we do expect them to separate their biases from their reporting.

The stunning spectacle of the White House failure to take necessary precautions in Libya after clear warnings, its insincere and overtly false blaming of the incident on a little-seen video, and the worrisome failure of the press to honestly report this are cause for concern for all.

Here are the facts: three days before the assault on

Community Action civic Association

the Libyan Embassy, the U.S. Government was warned of a planned 9/11/12 attack, and did nothing about it. This resulted in the deaths of four Americans, including Ambassador J. Christopher Stevens. The attacks were a specific response to the June drone attack on al-Qaeda leader Abu Yahya al-Libi and, perhaps, other key Al Qaeda leaders. This has been corroborated by the President of Libya, Mohamed Yousef El-Magariaf, and a Libyan security official, Jamal Mabrouk. On the day of the attack, there was absolutely no "spontaneous demonstration," there was a well-coordinated military maneuver including rocket propelled grenades and machine guns by well prepared militants. On the same day, a well-planned assault on our embassy in Cairo coordinated by Islamic extremists and attended by major Al Qaeda leaders took place.

Despite these clear and explicit facts, the White House intentionally deceived the American public and blamed the tragedy on a little-seen video. Even Al Jazeera, the Arab news service, noted that the YouTube trailer was barely known. The White House did this to intentionally hide its negligence in this particular instance as well as its numerous failures in the Muslim world.

Among these failures are the irrational rendering of apologies for offenses our nation never committed, and his abandonment of our ally Israel in this quest. It includes his enthusiastic backing of the overthrow of a pro-American Egyptian government by Islamic fundamentalists and al Qaeda personnel who hate our country, advocate for war in the Middle East, and who threaten to kill Coptic Christians in their own nation. It includes the failure to prevent Iranian interests from gaining the upper hand in Iraq. It also includes his failure to take any effective steps to slow Iran's headlong rush to gain a nuclear weapon, and the President's reluctance to take a firm stand against the ongoing human rights disaster in Syria. Perhaps most devastating, the amateurish step of announcing our departure date from Afghanistan has given rise to a resurgence of the same forces that mounted the original 9/11/01 attacks. The White House sought to distract the public from the fact that the President utterly failed to attend intelligence briefings for a full week before the attacks and ignored warnings about them. Indeed, even the day after the attacks, the President delivered a dispassionate statement about the Libyan assault, and totally ignored the Egyptian incident. Immediately afterward, he skipped yet another intelligence briefing, and hopped aboard his plane to fly to Vegas for his latest campaign fundraiser. The President's nonchalance about the Middle Eastern crisis was further exemplified by his claim to be too busy to meet with Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu, and instead appearing at (yet another) fundraiser with an ex-drummer dealing rap star, and a radio show with a DJ nicknamed "The Pimp with a Limp."

As a result of the White House's relentless publicizing of the little-known YouTube video in its attempt to deflect attention from its failures, Muslims throughout the world who knew nothing of the film before now became aware of it and, led by militants, used it as an excuse to attack western embassies throughout the world.

The major media outlets, instead of reporting these facts, did everything possible to assist the Administration's deception. As it has now been proven, a number of reporters even worked together to insure that any response from challenger Mitt Romney would be severely criticized no matter what the candidate said.

The criticism of the media's biased and dishonest response doesn't just come from Republicans or others who dislike President Obama. In the aftermath of the 9/11/12 embassy attacks, I spoke with radio hosts across the United States and Canada; all were dismayed over the complete rejection of journalistic ethics by the major media outlets. As a nation, we can and should have healthy disagreements about what the best policy choices for the Middle East are. But we all should agree that our President must at least show up for work, attend intelligence briefings, and that, when his policies fail, as they clearly have, he should be prepared to honestly disclose that to the public and to a media that has a bare minimum of journalistic ethics.

BY JOSEPH ODDO

The fall is here and many of us are about the tasks of harvesting our fruits and vegetables, assessing the value of our efforts and pruning our plants so they will be ready for next years growth. These tasks are all worth while. Our families, friends and neighbors reap the benefits of fresh fruits and vegetables and we all reap the benefits of living in a community with yards and gardens that are well kept. Seeing neatly trimmed yards and gardens with fall flora helps to extend that sense of quite peacefulness which many of us cherish. Your thoughtful planning, your hard work, and your investments in our community is well worth it and much appreciated.

In addition to maintaining our properties in ways that enhance our community, we can also contribute our planning skills, our efforts, our voices, and our investments ($10) for the benefit of our neighborhood. This contribution can best be made through community organizations like ours the Pelham Bay Taxpayers and Civic Association. Our leadership listens to your complaints. It meets with our elected officials and public servants in efforts to address our needs and to lend a voice and be heard on policy issues that may be good or not so good for our community. So come out we need you. We meet on the third Wednesday of the month in the ST. Theresa School cafeteria, on the corner of ST. Theresa Ave. and Pilgrim. The meeting room opens at 7pm. and the meeting starts at 7:30pm. All are welcome. Especially if you are new to our community. We welcome you to come meet with us, and bring your questions, we would love to hear from you.

Now it is your turn to hear from us. The MTA and the NYC Planning Department are working on a project to bring Metro-North service to the East Bronx. They are planning to open four new stations to be serviced by the New Haven line with Bronx stops at Coop City, Morris Park, Parkchester, and Hunts Point. Two weeks ago the MTA held its first public information session on the Morris Park stop. This stop is planned for the intersection of Eastchester Rd. and Park Place. It is within walking distance of the Hutch-Metro Center and Einstein Hospital. Pelham Bay Taxpayers fully endorses this project on the condition that parking for cars be included as part of the station. The air rights over the rail line can be utilized for the development of a parking facility as is done with other Metro-North Stations on the New Haven Line. This station as proposed will be two stations away from Penn Station in Manhattan. The hoped for initiation of service is 2017. As new information is made available we will provided it for you. This project is supported by Borough President Rubin Diaz who is leading the charge to have this service become a reality. On the Federal level this project is being promoted by Congressman Joseph Crowley who is very much involved with our efforts to get Con-rail and Amtrak to share the exiting rail line into Penn Station.

This past Wednesday Pelham Bay Taxpayers held its first meeting after the summer break. Our guest were Chrys Napolitano from the Locust Point Association and Bob Nolan from the Health and Hospital Corporation. Chrys spoke on the programs that are offered by the Locust Point Association. The number eight bus line ends right at their front door and they also have parking. Very easy to get to. The hot project that they are involved in for this fall is composting for their community garden and recycling of electronics. Please check their article in the Bronx Times Reporter for additional information. This past Saturday they successfully recycled one ton of electronics TV's, printers, DVD's, cell phones etc. keeping them out of our landfills and saving NYC the cost of shipping and dumping charges to dispose of these no longer useful items. They are also collecting leaves and grass clippings for their compost pile. So to all you gardeners out there, instead of power blowing your clippings to who knows where and having some of them get into our sewers, why not bag them and arrange with Chrys for your contribution to the Locust Point compost pile. You will be doing a good thing. They will be having additional days in October and November for electronics, grass, and leaves recycling. So stay in touch for additional information.

Our other speaker was and is a gentleman whom most of you know as Bob Nolan. Bob was a past member of the Pelham Bay Taxpayers Association. Upon moving his family to Morris Park he became actively involved in his new community. For the last 30 years he has worked in the Bronx Borough Presidents Office. Currently he is a member of the Board of the New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation. If you get a chance to hear him, make it a point to go. He is a wealth of interesting information. He spoke on the need for the community to support the Jacobi Medical Center. Jacobi with its state of the art Facilities and Trauma center is the place to go in an emergency. Personally I have used their services a number of times, I have also used the services of Columbia-Prysbterian, and Cornell Medical Center. Jacobi's trauma-emergency room is just as good and in some ways better. Jacobi's trauma center can be compared favorably with another world renowned trauma center. It is another public city run hospital. It is the University of San Francisco Medical Center in San Francisco California. Why is it that in the West not only in San Francisco are their public facilities held in such a high esteem and ours are not? If you have any suggestions on how Jacobi's services or image can be improved you are personally invited by Bob to attend the Health and Hospitals Corporations Bronx hearing on how the delivery of health services in the Bronx can be improved. It will be held on November 19 at 6pm. at Jacobi, meeting room to be announced. So if you have never been there, this would be a good time to go. Check out their new facilities and go and learn about the services they have to offer. This is a no brainer. You also get the chance to bring up before the Board what your needs are, what your likes and dislikes are, and your suggestions on how they can make things better for everyone.

Our next meeting will be on October 17 at St Theresa's School Cafeteria. Room opens at 7 p.m. and the meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. All are welcomed. If you chose to join our organization our dues is $10 and it can be paid in person or by mail. We can be reached by mail at Pilgrim Station Post Office Box 610233, Bronx, NY 10461.

Thank you and we hope to see you on October 17. Take Care.

Locust Point Civic Association

BY CHRYS NAPOLITANO

Thanks to everyone who joined us for our E-Cycle and Compost Event on Saturday, September 22 sponsored by Sen. Jeff Klein. Thanks to John Doyle for coordinating this free event for us. It was really nice to meet Ciara Gannon, our new community liaison. She has big shoes to fill, Nicole Pedi was great, but I see that Senator Klein has hired another enthusiastic and intelligent woman to fill this role. We look forward to working with her.

We have not received the official certification, but the nice folks at E-Green Recycling said we had at least one ton of materials. That's 2000 lbs of old computers, televisions, microwaves, cell phones and other miscellaneous things that could have ended up in the garbage and leached toxic chemicals and gases into our environment. Instead, these items will be safely broken down and recycled. If you missed the event, don't worry; we will have the event again next year. What I suggest is to set aside an area near where you keep your other recycling containers, in your laundry room, a hall closet, a shed in the backyard or the garage and let everyone know that this is where to put items that can be turned in - the new I-phone is coming out and I'm sure there will be a whole bunch of equipment you can't use now that they changed the adapter - docking stations, chargers, just think about it...

Since the last time we held the event, E-Green has purchased some additional equipment that allows them to break down and process plastic into pellets. One of the people attending the event asked if old VCR tapes, floppy disks, CD's and DVD's could be turned in and now that they have this machine, they can process these items. So if you are like me and you have not thrown out the shopping bag of mixed tapes in an attic closet (can't throw them out, can't sell them at a yard sale and can't give them away) - get ready for next year!

Thanks to Joe Oddo and Anita Valente of the Pelham Bay Taxpayers for letting me speak at their recent meeting about the New York City Compost Project. I will be speaking at the next LPCA General Meeting on Tuesday, October 2 at 8pm. Also at the Waterbury LaSalle Community Association on Thursday, October 11 at 7:30pm and the Throggs Neck Homeowners on Tuesday, October 30 at 7:30pm. The goal is to raise awareness about the NYC Compost Project and the LPCA's efforts to create a sheet compost system on our shoreline. Compost workdays will be every Saturday morning from 10am to 12noon. If you want to come down to see what we're doing, stop by to enjoy the view at 3300 Tierney Place. If you'd like more info, email me at cna.politano@netzero.net.

Our CSA held its first Pot Luck Dinner on Thursday, Sept. 20. Thanks to everyone who brought their delicious dishes, it was really wonderful - not just the food, but the company! Thanks to Valerie Wilson, Lourdes Harkins and the whole Harkins family for coordinating and putting this event together.

Mark these dates in your calendar - Saturday, October 13 from 10am to 4pm Pet Adoption Day, co-sponsored with Patrick Caruso and Community Board 10. If you know Patrick, you know he is passionate about this issue and we are so happy to be able to help Top Dog New Beginning Animal Shelter find homes for these animals. I have a dog, a nasty cocker spaniel who doesn't like most people - but after my husband Neil, she is the love of my life. She saved my sanity during the seven years I spent caring for my mom. I know the impact this dog has had on my life and the joy she has brought us. When people say that owning a dog adds two years to your life, I understand that. So come down and find a friend, give a beautiful animal a home and in return you get unconditional love. If you can't adopt an animal, come down with a donation if you can. Some of these dogs are really in rough shape when they get to the shelter and they do amazing things to save them and bring them back to good health.

Sunday, October 28 from noon to 3pm is the Zumbathon for Breast Cancer. This is a free event and open to everyone from beginners to advanced, but space is limited and you must RSVP. Check out the facebook page Zumba Party in Pink for Breast Cancer or you can text Janet at 917 353 8001 to RSVP to this event. Donations are suggested for this worthy cause and anyone who makes a donation will receive a Halloween Goodie Bag to take home.

The Throggs Neck Veteran's Day Parade will be Sunday, November 18. This year the parade will follow the same route as the St. Patrick's Day Parade. Let's make this parade as well attended as the St. Patrick's Day Parade. Mary Jane Musano and the Waterbury LaSalle Community Association are spearheading an effort to raise awareness about the Veteran's Parade by reaching out to all of our community groups and encouraging members to gather together to cheer on the soldiers past and present who march. Check out her column for more details. If you are a Locust Point resident and would like to join your neighbors, keep an eye on this column as we confirm details and let you know where we're all planning on meeting. I know we can pull together a good crowd!

And lastly, I was catching up on some past issues of the Bronx Times Reporter and noticed that John Collazzi has retired and that Laura Guerriero has stepped in to fill his post. Sorry to see John go, but hope he enjoys his new free time. Thanks for giving me the opportunity to exercise my right to free speech. Happy to see that Laura will be holding the reigns, it's always been a pleasure dealing with you!

Happy Autumn everyone, looking forward to seeing many of you at these upcoming events.

Our regular post meeting will be on the 3rd Sunday of October at 10am sharp at American Turners NY, the Turner Club. That's an earlier start time so we can view a continuing series of informational CDs about our organization, presented by Commander Joe. Cash bar and free wings and things after the meeting. Joe is an instructor at the Legion College, an intense but fun weekend of learning how to be a better Legionnaire and therefore be better able to serve our veterans and the community. If you want to try it, think about it and speak to the commander.

October 7th, we have the the Columbus Day Parade in the Morris Park neighborhood. Form up around White Plains Rd. and Morris Park Ave. @11:30, we march to Eastchester Rd. Look for caps and berets.

October 14th we have

civic center

Korony American Legion Post 253

our Annual 1st & 9th District Legislative Breakfast. Ask questions of our elected officials. Registration is 9:00am at the Turner Club, $30.00 per person. Jacket and tie please. Legionnaires, contact your post commanders so they can reserve a table.

November 9th is the Annual Bronx County Military Ball (dinner dance) at Villa Barone Manor, formal event, $75.00 per person. Reservations also required.

November 11th, Veterans Day, we have the ceremony at the 'Winged Victory' monument, at the grove, Pelham Bay Park, on the way to City Is. It starts at 10:30am. It's also known as the Soldiers & Sailors Monument. Our late buddy Bill Clancy once remarked that we will meet there until the last one of us is standing! Let's honor his memory and try to make it to the grove if at all possible.

Then on the 18th, we have our own Annual Veterans Day Parade, down the avenue from Laffayette Ave. to Randall then a left and over the overpass to Bicentennial Veterans Memorial Park at Weir Creek. Step-off at noon sharp.

Until Next Time: Hearing a lot of disgruntled folks loosing faith in our system of government lately. If we don't do our part and vote this coming Election Day, we could loose even a basic right to participate and express our point of view. From the evening news talking heads to talk radio to the average computer blogger (or newspaper guy), listen, think, be informed and exercise your right and perhaps, what some say, is our duty to vote!

Our next meeting will be on October 11 at P.S. 14 at 7:30 p.m. We will be showing a documentary film called 2012: They Come To America. It is a first-hand account of how devastating illegal immigration is to our country. The filmmaker lives in Long Island and is trying to clear his schedule to attend our meeting.

ChrysNapolitano from Locust Point will also be there to tell us about some interesting events in our community. Please invite your friends and neighbors as it is sure to be a very informative meeting. Hope to see you there!

Veteran's Day Parade

Veteran's Day is approaching and this year we hope to get everyone out on the sidelines to cheer our veteran's on at our community's Veteran's Day Parade. The parade is on November 18 at noon and it runs along Tremont Avenue from Lafayette Avenue to Harding Avenue. The parade route is a bit different this year but it is sure to be just as much fun!

In order to be sure that the parade route is filled with people, just like it is on St. Patrick's Day, we are asking that every civic association choose a parade route block and have as many members as possible meet on the chosen block to cheer on those marching in our parade.

To sweeten the pot a bit, the Waterbury LaSalle Community Association is teaming up with Dotty Poggi, the owner of Alpha Art, to offer the first 10 civic associations who commit to bringing 10 people to the parade, a professionally made sign with their association's name on it. If you are interested, you must call me at 718 792-6385 as soon as possible to find out the details. The signs have a retail value of $200 so don't let this opportunity escape you!

Several civic associations are committing to getting their members out to see the parade but they already have association signs. That's Ok, of course, we just want you to come out and support our veterans. Please call me as soon as possible to let me know if your association will join us at the parade and also, what block along Tremont Avenue you will be meeting on. Of course, if you want a sign for your association then you must call as soon as you can or you will miss out.

We are hoping that this year the parade watchers will come out en mass with flags in hand to show our veterans and also those still serving that we appreciate their service to our country.

Bronx Cultural Trolley rolls again Oct. 3

Calling all hats! St. Peter's Episcopal Church, located at 2500 Westchester Avenue, will hold its annual old fashioned tea social and hat show on Saturday, September 29 at 4 p.m. All are invited to sample a variety of teas, sandwiches and other delicious treats. In spirit of the event, ladies of all ages are encouraged to create or wear their finest and most outrageous hats. Proceeds from this fund-raising event will benefit the outreach programs of St. Peter's.

Admission is $25 for adults and $10 for children under the age of 12.

Tickets must be purchased in advance and may be obtained by calling the church at (718) 931-9270. Tickets will not be available to purchase at the door.

The Bronx Culture Trolley rolls again on Wednesday, October 3, featuring a number of family activities along the South Bronx Cultural Corridor including art exhibitions at the Longwood Art Gallery at Hostos, Bronx Museum of the Arts, BronxArtSpace, The Clock Café & Martini Bar and the Bruckner Bar & Grill. BCA's BronxArtworks Artisans Collective will set up their boutique of hand-made items in the Hostos lobby. The Longwood Art Gallery will host a musical performance, the Bronx Museum will feature a literary event, and you can wind down your trolley night with food, drink at the Bruckner Bar & Grill. The Bronx Culture Trolley is a program of the Bronx Council on the Arts (BCA). Admission to venues is free and all are welcome to hop on board and enjoy them.

The Trolley will begin at the Longwood Art Gallery at Hostos Community College, 450 Grand Concourse at 149th Street, at 5:00pm for a meet-and-greet opening reception and a viewing of Puerto Rico In Its Labyrinth, Chronicles of a Country and a World in Crisis, an exhibition of works on paper and sculpture by Puerto Rican artist, educator and social scientist José Buscaglia. The exhibition comments on the legacy of colonialism and the history of oppression in the Caribbean, the Americas and Africa in the midst of a global crisis and change. Plaza de la Identidad: Public Art Under House Arrest is an installation of Buscaglia's 2003 public work commissioned by the Puerto Rican legislature which, until recently, was kept in storage because it was deemed too nationalistic for public display. Also in the gallery, a 6:00pm Introduction to the exhibition by Jose Buscaglia followed a musical performance by vocalist/guitarist Gian Carlo Buscaglia (son of the artist) whose all-original repertoire of Salsa, Latin Jazz, Nueva Trova, Guaracha and Bomba embodies the protest tradition of Latin America's New Song movement with its deep sense of poetry, irony, and call to social action. Outside the gallery in the Hostos Memorial Plaza: Conversing Bricks, an installation by artist Hatuey Ramos-Fermin.

The bricks, initially sent to Congress in an effort to convince them to build a wall on the US-Mexico border, were brought to the Bronx for use in a pro-immigrant art installation, turning their message of hate and division into one of hope and reconciliation. In the Hostos lobby BCA's BronxArtworks Artisans Collective will display and sell their imaginative creations in all price ranges. Items include paintings, post cards, crocheted hats, knitwear, illustrations, jewelry, sculpture, papermache and ethnic masks, vases, note cards, crafts, and more. All items are original designs created by Bronx crafts artists.

The trolley bell clangs at 5:30pm, 6:30pm, and 7:30pm, indicating the trolley's departure from Hostos on its way to the evening's cultural events.

In addition to Longwood Art Gallery @ Hostos, this month's trolley stops and attractions include: The Bronx Museum of the Arts for readings and conversations with author Ramone Smith who will discuss his recent book African American Healthy Self-Esteem. Also, there will be a guided tour of the museum's exhibitions: Urban Archives: The Rituals of Chaos complements the work of Mexico's renowned photojournalist Enrique Metinides; Bronx Lab: Style Wars, a group exhibition about graffiti that includes painting, drawings, prints, sculpture, and video; and revolution not televised features works by contemporary Cuban artists; BRAC at BronxArtSpace for a viewing of Process and Progress: Sonya Blesofsky and Lan Tuazon featuring Ms. Blesofsky's bri-colage installation of drawings and 3-D forms, overlapping and juxtaposed to reflect the inconsistencies at play within the landscape of West Farms and Ms. Tuazon's four composite sculptures accompanied by a series of prints utilizing silhouettes of utopian structures overlaid with cityscape prints of the Bronx. The Clock Café & Martini Bar for a viewing of Historical Chronicles, mixed media paintings by artist Juliette Pelletier that represent a bridge between centuries, continents and cultures and explore temporal constructs, individuality and philosophy.

There's no better way to end a school day than with an art class at the Bronx River Art Center.

Art classes are taught by professional artists with experience in a wide variety of techniques including: drawing and painting, digital photography, ceramic sculpture, cartooning, and portfolio review and preparation. ITEM: Dear friends, pardon this slight digression from the usual Rock on the Bronx column. I wanted to share with you the happy news that I have written and released an eBook called "BandLand-Book One".

I have been mulling the story for a quite a while and was able to finally get it down in an intense two week period in August. It's a fictional music-melodrama about two local rock bands in a small town. One band is good, the other is evil.

The group's battle each other to see which band is the best in the land while vying for the creative and romantic attentions of a gorgeous female piano rock on the bronx

by Fish Altieri

prodigy. As we are lucky to be living in the age of Do-It-Yourself technology I am happy to have "BandLand-Book One" sold exclusively at Amazon.com.

Having been in and out of many bands my whole life with varying degrees of success plus writing about them for The Bronx Times Reporter for 15 years I hope you enjoy the book as much as I enjoyed writing it. I think it's a fun, breezy, easy read. If it were a film it would be a drama rated PG-13. Bronx Graphic artist Alex Cerasoli did a great book cover capturing the stories' independent rock and roll spirit.

The eBook Amazon format is supported by most smart Phones, tablets, Windows, Macs and of course the Kindle Book readers. "BandLand Book One" is eBook only and available for just 99 cents.

As a first time writer I decided to go with Amazon's lowest price point. Currently there are no plans for hard copies. The book is authored under my pen name Joseph Anthony Junior. You wouldn't know my pen name because I never finished a book until now!

Go to Amazon.com and search Bandland. Rock on. Rock out!

Convicted of manslaughter for stabbing death in 1985

Bronx District Attorney Robert Johnson announced today that a 47-year-old deaf Pennsylvania man has been convicted of manslaughter in the stabbing death of a 21-year-old Bronx man in the Summer of 1985.

Gabriel Thompson, of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, pled guilty to one count of Manslaughter in the first degree before State Supreme Court Justice Margaret Clancy. The judge set sentencing for Thursday, September 27 in Part H79.

Under the plea agreement, Thompson is to receive a term of four to 12 years imprisonment.

Thompson admitted that on August 31, 1985, he stabbed Miguel Lopez once in the chest causing his death during an altercation on the sidewalk in front of an apartment building at 1013 East 180th Street. According to Thompson's statement to investigators he believed that Lopez was romantically involved with Thompson's girlfriend prior to the attack.

The homicide remained unsolved until September 2010 when Thompson was arrested by Retired Detective Anthony Padilla, then assigned to the NYPD Cold Case Squad. NYPD reopened the investigation in 2006 after receiving a tip from a witness. During the course of his investigation, Det. Padilla re-interviewed several witnesses, including one who said that he failed to identify Thompson in 1985, because he had been threatened. Ultimately, investigators were led to Thompson who had moved out of state to Pennsylvania. When Thompson returned to the Bronx for an extended visit in 2010 he was interviewed by detectives and admitted that he stabbed Lopez.

The case is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Meredith Holtzman, a Supervisor from the Intake Bureau and Assistant District Attorney Hilary Chernin.

Speaker Quinn addresses the Thursday, September 20 meeting of general Community Board 10.

Electeds, Board 10 pushing for return of 45th Pct. Narcotics Unit

In the past, the 45th Precinct's narcotics module had five specialists, most of them detectives.

Police manpower stretched

Hard choices

With police manpower stretched thin across the borough and city, commanders have had to make hard choices on staffing assignments.

Both Quinn and Vacca released a letter dated Wednesday, September 19 calling on Assistant Chief Carlos Gomez, the NYPD Bronx Borough Commander to come up with some fancy personnel juggling.

"Concerns of increased drug activity from community leaders and residents have risen significantly in the Throggs Neck, City Island, Pelham Bay, and Country Club communities since the 45th Precinct's full-time module was removed," stated the joint letter to Gomez from Quinn and Vacca.

"We have complete confidence that, under the leadership of former commanding officer Deputy Inspector Russell Green and current commanding officer James McGeown, the men and women of the 45th Precinct have worked very hard to ensure that these communities are adequately protected from illicit drug activity," the letter continued. "However, we believe that the drug activity in the precinct cannot be fully and comprehensively monitored without a dedicated narcotics module."

The sentiments in the letter were shared by Community Board 10 chairman John Marano, who spent about two years as a narcotics officer during his time at the NYPD.

Refocusing resources
Marano has been advocating for the return of the module full-time ever since it was moved.

"The criminals know when the cops are not here, and they know when they are - it is a business for them," said Marano.

Having the narcotics module would allow the precinct commander to refocus his resources on other types of crimes, he said, making criminals think twice before breaking into a car or breaking into someone's home because they know that the cops will be around to investigate those complaints.

Board 10 has also asked Police Commissioner Ray Kelly to return the module.

"Having a narcotics module," said Marano, "will definitely keep drug dealers on their toes."

Columbus Day Parade gearing up

turing fine Italian eats.

The parade's Dinner Dance is set for Sunday, September 30 at Maestro's Catering on Unionport Road.

For $85 Bronxites will step into the world of fine Italian cuisine, ranging from freshly-made mozzarella to delicious sweets at the Venetian hour. In the background, guests will hear Neil Diamond's "Coming to America", a symbol of unity for immigrants.

"I play that CD just to remind everybody that we are all one in this country," said lead organizer Tony Signorile. "We all came to this country for the same reason."

A crown for the parade queen

Special guests include her highness, Miss Bronx Columbus, known to many as Christina Iannarino of Throggs Neck. Signorile plans to officially crown the 16-year-old, who will receive a $10,000 scholarship from the Generoso Pope Foundation, one of the heavy financial backers for the parade.

An independent panel vetted Iannarino, a Preston High School junior with dreams of entering the field of medicine.

Grand Marshal Phil Foglia and Honorary Marshal Patricia Cassano will also be recognized.

Local restaurateur Joseph Giordano, owner of Riviera Ravioli on Arthur Avenue, will be honored with the Citizen Award for his contributions to the neighborhood.

"He does a lot for the community," said Signorile. "He's always there."

Signorile's journey in organizing New York State's 2nd largest Columbus Day parade proved just as treacherous as Christopher Columbus' journey to the undiscovered country.

"To be number two is getting harder and harder," admitted Signorile.

Putting it all together

Leading the effort for the past seven years, Signorile's been working the phones even as he balances a full-time job in Westchester.

Coordinating marching bands is often the toughest aspect of the parade, according to Signorile, mainly since the bands are committed to other parades.

Signorile, a native of Italy, boasts his heritage proudly. The longtime Morris Park resident immigrated to the states when he was 12, settling in Arthur Avenue.

"Italians have provided a lot to the world," said Signorile, a fond lover of Italian artists Michelangelo and Leonardo DaVinci.

On top of four floats committed to the parade, NYPD bagpipers along with 16 music bands will lay the soundtrack for the parade.

The Bronx Trolley, a throwback to the days of pre-1930s travel, will also snail along Morris Park Avenue.

The Dinner Dance will run from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the door for $85.

The parade steps off at noon from Morris Park Avenue and White Plains Road, and marches to a reviewing stand at Williamsbridge Road.

Prior to the parade, there will be a mass and a parade breakfast for the marchers sponsored by Mary Queen of Peace Council of the Knights of Columbus at St. Dominic Church.

DeBlasio Warns Consumers About Classified Ads
Toll numbers may be a direct line to trouble. Classified ads are intended to help people by facilitating communication and advertising available services; however, some of the hotlines & service numbers in classifieds actually hurt the people who rely on them by cheating them of their hard-earned dollars. "Most newspapers print a disclaimer in their classified ad section to warn readers about numbers that are a direct line to trouble. Any number starting with 900, 540, 595 or 871 charges a fee beyond a local call. In some instances, ads initially advertise calls to a local number, but then direct callers to a second number starting with one of the paid exchanges. "Consumers must also question the legitimacy of vague classifieds because they too could be a scam. Before responding to an ad, consumers should verify the source of all information & always be wary about sending money or signing a contract with an unknown party."

PIPE DREAMS

By Bob Connolly

Week 2 Giants (1-1)

The Giants had a fantastic comeback despite the poor officiating and the un-flagged Bucs' fouls. The most egregious foul came at game's end when as Eli was taking a knee and a TB defender fired out at full strength knocking Eli to the turf (no penalty but a memory). Eli was 31/51, 504yds. The team had over 600 total yards. Nicks and Cruz each had double figure catches with close to 400 yards. The NY DBs have to get better. TB passed for 243 yards

Steelers (1-1) 27

Jets (1-1) 10

The rumored Jet D doesn't seem to be that good having given up 721 yards and allowed 55 points in two games. Roethlisberger was 24/32, 275; Jets passed 10/27, 138yds. and ran 28 times for 66yds. What "wildcat" offense?

Week 3 Giants (2-1)

36- Panthers (2-1) 7

After the Giants scored 40pts in a win over the Bucs, some of the southern guys were saying that they wanted to see if the "G-Men" could do it again.

Well they didn't score 40 but did score 36 in beating Carolina.

Darden, Bennett, & Brown were asked to step-up and play in place for injured regulars. Step-up they did (Darden 9/138, Brown ran 20/113)

The Giant D only gave up 60yds on the ground but allowed

State champs look for back-to-back title

BY DANIEL MARTIN

Fordham Prep might be the defending CHSSA Class AA state champions, but if coach Peter McNamara and the Rams are to win back-to-back titles, they will have to do it with a roster that returns only a handful of players from last year's championship team.

"We would like to continue to play this way," said assistant coach Gustavo Palomino, who filled in for head coach Peter McNamara Thursday. "We have a lot of new players, but little by little we're playing the right game."

The Rams lost two key players from last season's championship team, Mark Kramarchuk and Dylan Cope, both of whom are now signed to play Division I soccer at Bucknell and Iona respectively. But, even with those two having graduated, players have stepped in and provided leadership to fill the void.

"Last year, we had built up from the beginning," said senior co-captain Sebastian Palomino, the assistant coach's son, after a 4-0 win over Holy Cross last Thursday. "We didn't have that good of chemistry, but after all these practices we came out here and showed that we can play as a team."

This 2012 squad, which is 4-0-1, has added talent from the inside, too, capitalizing on the development of its junior varsity team and helping those younger players into key roles on the varsity squad. Among them is junior Pat Quirke, who scored two goals against Holy Cross, opening the game with a score in the first half, and sealing the game with another er late in the second.

"Wherever coach puts me, I'm just trying to help out," he said. "It might be tough to repeat what we did last year with a lot of good kids leaving, but we have a bunch of good juniors and sophomores that can help out."

Fordham Prep was relentless on the attack Thursday night, particularly in the second half, keeping pressure on the Holy Cross defense and producing four goals. That up-tempo style has produced 11 goals in four games for the Rams.

"I think there's a lot to work on, still," Sebastian Palomino said. "I think we have to take it game by game and see how it progresses from there."

Mount St. Michael big win in CHSFL Class AAA play

BY DANIEL MARTIN

Coming off of a loss to Holy Cross last week, Mount Saint Michael bounced back with a big 41-14 win over Fordham Prep in CHSFL Class AAA play Saturday night at Fordham University.

Mount coach Mario Valentini and his squad used their three-running back set, plus quarterback Isaiah Matir, almost exclusively on Saturday night.

Albert Sutton led the way, carrying the ball 14 times for 102 yards and scoring a touchdown. Kasim Thomas caught a touchdown and ran for another, while collecting 61 yards on the ground.

"I got good blocks from the offensive line, which helped me out," Sutton said. "Coach told me to run hard. Just run hard and keep my legs moving."

Mount St. Michael led by just one point, 8-7, at the end of the first quarter, but went on a 36-7 scoring run to finish the game and secure the big victory.

Matir also got the Mountaineer offense moving with his legs, breaking off a 54-yard run up the middle to put Mount (1-1, 1-1) in position to score in the third quarter. T was a much needed win after falling 20-14 to Holy Cross in the final seconds last week

"We executed well on offense, but we still have a lot of work to do," Valentini said. "We're coming along."

The loss keeps Fordham Prep (0-3, 0-2) winless to start to the season. The Rams lost a tight game to St. John the Baptist, a Class AA-A team in its opener and was handled by Chaminade last week.

Eagles looking to win second straight title

BY JOSEPH STASZEWSKI

Arianna Francis' signature sequence headband isn't the only thing that makes her stand out on the volleyball court.

"I think I am the only one who wears it," the Fieldston outside hitter said with a smile.

The stylish senior is also arguably the Ivy League's most dominant player for an Eagles team looking to win a second straight NYSAISAA crown. He athletic 5-foot-9 frame can unleash powerfully swing that allow her to score through, over and around a block.

That along with her serving and digging was on display in the Eagles 25-18, 25-13, 25-13, win over an injury-plagued Poly Prep team in an Ivy League girls volleyball game in The Bronx Friday. Francis had two long service runs in the first set, got Fieldston off to a good start in the second and along with Catalina Jimenez and Danielle Sutton closed out a feisty Blue Devils team in the third.

"That's the type of Ari you expect to see," Fieldston coach Collin Henry said. "I try to tell her she is on another level from the competition in this league, but she plays down some times. It annoys me and then she turns and gives me those little dimples to say, 'I know I messed up because I am not being aggressive.'"

What makes Francis even more dangerous is the tandem she and Jimenez form on the court. Their versatility allows Henry to play one in the front line and one in the back at all times. Both are superb servers and diggers and can hit effectively from anywhere. It leaves opponents without a break and concerned that either one can get on a roll. Fieldston used the same plan during its title run, but with more experienced players around them.

"By putting them opposite each other you get the same thing in every rotation," Henry said. "It looks like nothing has changed it's a big luxury to have."

They are lynchpins, along with right side Lisa Slivken, of a team that is still learning how to play together. New sophomore setter Abby Kingsberg is beginning to find her chemistry with her teammates and junior libero Rowyn Paul is building off the experience she gained after being called up from the JV late last season.

"She is doing big things," Jimenez said of Kingsberg.

Fieldston hopes to accomplish some lofty thing as team as well.

Salesian vs. Regis

To the players, it's like the World Series

Salesian vs. Jesuit. Salesian vs. Regis. There's just no way to downplay the intensity of this rivalry. There isn't a single person affiliated with these two names that isn't aware of the elephant in the room. Yes there is a rivalry. Every time these teams play it's a battle. Neither wants to lose...it's like the World Series in these players' eyes. If Regis takes a drubbing from Stepinac...no biggie, just wake up the next day and get back to work. Regis loses to Salesian? Cue the violins, stock up on tissues, and get the energy drinks ready for the next day because no body is sleeping that night. So why is this year different then all the others? Now...even more then before, there is more incentive for these teams to win.

Kevin Del Valle is the coach of Salesian's Varsity team. On Saturday, September 29 at 1 p.m., his team will take on Regis. Who coaches Regis? His brother, Keith Del Valle. The trash talk has already begun. There are no light jabs being thrown here...these two are literally not speaking to each other at the moment. Call it boys being boys or brothers being brothers, either way this game promises to be exciting. Could there be the sentimental moment at the game's conclusion where both brothers meet at the mound and hug? Maybe. We'll have to see. I'm sure both coaches will have a special pre-game pep talk prepared for the locker room. To these two brothers, it's about who has the better coaching ability. Who led their group of young men to become the better baseball players. The bottom-line is they both want to win...badly.

Salesian vs. Regis. Kevin Del Valle vs. Keith Del Valle. Bragging rights on the line.

It's off to a perfect start in Ivy League play, but fell to a healthy Poly Prep team at the Brearley tournament and to Bronx Science in the Battle of the Bronx tournament final over the weekend. If show them what this club is capable moving forward.

"We are determined to win this year," Francis said. "I believe we can do it. We all believe we can do it."

Mount St. Michael big win in CHSFL

Fordham Prep coach Pete Gorynski said. "I thought we were better than what we've shown.

For Fordham Prep, the one bright spot for an offense that struggled to really get going was running back Malik Crossdale.

He carried the ball 16 times for 95 yards, including a 35-yard touchdown in the second quarter. It kept the Rams close early before Mount broke the game open. Despite the slow start to the season, Gorynski says the Rams are looking to quickly change course and that could mean a shake up in the line up.

"We're going to try to find guys that want to be out here," Gorynski said. "As I told them, my free time this weekend will be spent watching film...We're going to start juggling personnel. Problem is, I don't know how much of the deck I can shuffle."

Injury plagued Horace Mann is hoping to compete for a second straight Ivy League crown.

BY MIKE MCAVOY

The injury bug has been swarming around Horace Mann this season, but not even that can slow down this senior-laden squad.

Horace Mann defeated visiting Riverdale 4-1 in Ivy League boys soccer Friday afternoon. The Lion's clicked on all cylinders despite missing two of their captains Andrew Silberstein and Troy Sipprelle due to injury.

Senior captain Bernie Rawlins stepped up big in the absence of his classmates. He had his hand in three of the team's goals, scoring two of his own and assisting on a third.

"Bernie's a great captain and a great leader," Horace Mann coach Neil Berniker said. "He has outstanding speed, he wants the ball, and he knows what to do with it. He's a driving force."

Rawlins will have to continue his hot play as the Lion's will be without Silberstein and Sipprelle going forward. Sipprelle will be sidelined the entire season, as he recovers from surgery for a torn meniscus. Silberstein suffered a high-ankle sprain, but his timetable is unknown.

"He is, what I consider, one of the top players in the league," Berniker said of Silberstein. "We need him to recover."

The Lions wasted no time against Riverdale. Senior Michael Chon scored off deflection of a Rawlins' shot in the 10th minute. Rawlins added a goal past diving Riverdale goalie Noah Stern to give Horace Mann a 2-0 lead with a minute left in the first half.

In the 48th minute Lyle Dershowitz tucked a header into the left side of a corner kick from senior Andrew Arnaboldi. Rawlins capped the scoring off a feed from Dershowitz. The win was just step toward against competing for a division title and NYSAISAA crown.

"Our depth has been key, especially since the injuries" Arnaboldi said.

The Lions return 11 seniors from a team that won the Ivy League last year. They were eliminated in the semifinals of the playoffs by eventual state champions Collegiate, who handed Mann their only loss this season by a score of 3-0.

"It was a tough game," Rawlins said. "We'll see them another time and we'll be ready for them."

It's that type of attitude that's made Berniker proud of the way his club has come together despite the injuries and the early season loss to Collegiate. He only sees good things ahead for his team ahead.

Pipedreams: Elite QBs; workload

288 in the air (no TDs); remarkable, on three days' rest.

Elite QBs

Greg Cote (Miami Herald) ranked some of the top NFL QBs:

Elite: 1. Tom Brady, Patriots; 2. Aaron Rodgers, Packers; 3. Drew Brees, Saints; and 4. Manning, Broncos. Near elite 5. Eli Manning, Giants; 6. Ben Roethlisberger, Steelers; and 7. Philip Rivers, Chargers. Next tier 8. Matt Ryan, Falcons; 9. Joe Flacco, Ravens; 10. Matt Schaub, Texans; 11. Matthew Stafford, Lions; 12. Tony Romo, Cowboys; and 13. Cam Newton, Panthers."

More On Bounty-Gate

Dan Daly (DC Times) had these thoughts: "The league has always contended that some of those big plays were deliberate attempts to injure. The question has always been: How much? But that isn't the question Vilma and the others have been preoccupied with. What they've been preoccupied with is: How much does the NFL really know, and how much do we have to admit to? Or to put it another way, it's become a battle between the Best Interests of Football and the Best Interests of Four Players — and there's no intersection between the two. Up to now, the Bounty Four have been perfectly content to hang the whole thing on a rogue coach (Williams) who's been banished from the league for a year. That "affect the head" business? Oh, that was just Gregg being theatrical. Nobody took that seriously. One piece of evidence the NFL showed the union, though, listed the Saints' "2010 'kill the head' totals," Mike Freeman of CBSSports.com reported. "It's a simple column that has player names and then the phrase 'kill the heads' with numbers underneath. Vilma, for example, had 62 kill the heads."

Workload

Bob Molinaro (HampTonRoads.com) wrote that, "It's hard not to be cynical about the NFL's professed concern for players' health and safety while teams are asked to go to work on short rest in order to satisfy the Thursday night schedule. When the Ravens play the Browns on Thursday, Sept. 27, it will be Baltimore's fourth game in 17 days."

"Sawx" Sale

Tony Mazz (Boston Globe) talked about some rumblings. "Charles Gasparino of the FOX Business Network has reported that the Red Sox are at least "mulling" a sale in the wake of the historic trade that felt like a corporate gutting. Henry denies this. On the baseball side, Boston felt liberated by the trade that sent Adrian Gonzalez, Josh Beckett, and Carl Crawford to the Los Angeles Dodgers. On the business side, people like Gasparino saw it as a quarter-billion-dollar downsizing that could make the Sox far more appealing to prospective buyers. The truth, as always, probably rests somewhere in the space between, and we all know that semantics are everything when the temperature gets hottest. If the Sox are "mulling" a sale, does that mean they will sell? No. But even Henry has publicly stated that he never intended to own the club for more than 20-25 years, which puts him and his partners somewhere around the 50-yard line."

NHL Lockout?

John Feinstein (DC Post) wrote that, "The NHL wants more and it wants the players to accept less — again. The players, led by former baseball union chief Donald Fehr, are willing to accept some cuts — but not the cuts the owners want. And so, there is a good chance that hockey fans — arguably the most loyal fans in sports — will face another fall without hockey. What's worth remembering is that this is not Fehr's first rodeo. He ran the baseball union during numerous work stoppages, including the strike of 1994-95, when the owners cancelled a World Series and actually began spring training with replacement players.

And then there's one other question: Do the two sides understand how sick and tired all fans, even

Dental Diary

BY DR. WILLIAM WOLFSON

Wisdom teeth are the upper and lower third molars, located at the very back of the mouth. They are called wisdom teeth because usually they come in when a person is between 17 and 21 years or older—old enough to have gained some “wisdom.” Wisdom teeth that are healthy and properly positioned do not cause problems.

What causes problems with wisdom teeth? Wisdom teeth may break partway through your gums, causing a flap of gum tissue to grow over them where food can become trapped and a gum infection can develop. Wisdom teeth can also come in crooked or facing the wrong direction. Or, if your jaw is not large enough to give them room, they may become impacted and unable to break through your gums. You may have trouble properly cleaning around wisdom teeth because they are so far in the back of your mouth and may be crowded.

What are the symptoms of wisdom tooth problems? Wisdom teeth often cause no symptoms. Symptoms that may mean your wisdom teeth need to be removed include:

- Pain or jaw stiffness near an impacted tooth.
- Pain or irritation from a tooth coming in at an awkward angle and rubbing against your cheek, tongue, or top or bottom of the mouth.
- An infected swelling in the flap of gum tissue that has formed on top of an impacted tooth that has partially broken through the gum.

- Crowding of other teeth.
- Tooth decay or gum disease if there's not enough room to properly care for the wisdom tooth and surrounding teeth.

Most problems with wisdom teeth develop in people between the ages of 15 and 25. Few people older than 30 develop problems that require removal of their wisdom teeth.

How Are Problems With Wisdom Teeth Diagnosed?

Your dentist will examine your teeth and gums for signs of a wisdom tooth coming through your gum or crowding other teeth. You will have X-rays to find out whether your wisdom teeth are causing problems now or are likely to cause problems in the future.

What Is The Treatment For Wisdom Tooth Problems?

The most common treatment for wisdom tooth problems is removal (extraction) of the tooth. Experts disagree about whether to remove a wisdom tooth that is not causing symptoms or problems. Oral surgeons generally agree that removing a wisdom tooth is easier in younger people (usually in their early 20s), when the tooth's roots and the jawbone are not completely developed. In the late 20s and older, the jawbone tends to get harder, and healing generally takes longer.

Health alert

BY DAVID KASEMAN, D.C.

Mental Attitude: Positive Emotion. Older adults display more positive emotions and are quicker to regulate out of negative emotional states than younger adults. Older adults may be better at regulating emotion because they tend to direct their eyes away from negative material or toward positive material. - Current Directions in Psychological Science, August 2012

Health Alert: Alzheimer's Research. The global market for Alzheimer's disease therapeutics could soar to $8 billion once therapies are approved that actually change the course of the disease. The current therapeutic market is valued at $3-4 billion and is shared among drugs that temporarily delay disease progression or address the symptoms but do not alter the underlying disease. Despite all the research on amyloid plaques and neurofibrillary tangles, there is still a debate on whether these biological phenomena are causative or symptomatic of Alzheimer's. Once scientists can clearly and unequivocally define key factors related to the actual biology of the disease itself, therapeutic advances could take place much more quickly. - Genetic Engineering & Biotechnology News, August 2012

Diet: Summer Time Blues! Barbequed hot dogs and sausages are common summer time treats, but are they the right choice for your diet? It's not just the high levels of fat or calories that are cause for concern, most hot dogs, bratwurst, and other sausages are also very high in sodium. The average hot dog contains 280 calories, 15 grams of fat, and 1,250 mg of sodium. - American Heart Association

Exercise: Micronutrients and Physical Fitness. Adolescents' blood levels of micronutrients are correlated with how well they perform in physical fitness tests. For cardio-respiratory fitness, concentrations of hemoglobin, retinol, and vitamin C in males and beta-carotene and vitamin D in females was positively associated with VO2 max (peak oxygen uptake). - Journal of Applied Physiology, Aug 2012

Wellness/Prevention: Nutrition and IQ. Children fed healthy diets at a young age may have a higher IQ when tested at eight years old. A study looked at the link between the eating habits of children at six months, 15 months and two years, and their IQ at eight years of age. Children breastfed at six months and who had a healthy diet regularly including foods such as legumes, cheese, fruit and vegetables at 15 and 24 months, had an IQ up to two points higher by age eight. Those children who had a diet regularly involving biscuits, chocolate, sweets, soft drinks and chips in the first two years of life had IQs up to two points lower by age eight. - University of Adelaide, Aug 2012
